AUTO RACERS KILL AND MAIM

Five Dead and Several Fatally Hurt in Paris-Madrid Contest.

SPEED IS TERRIFIC.

Louis Renault's Machine Reached Velocity of 88 Miles an Hour.

M. COMBES INTERFERES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Paris, May 24.—In view of the number of accidents, some fatal, in the first stage of the Paris-Madrid automobile race, from Versailles to Bordeaux, Premier Combes has forbidden the continuance of the contest on French territory. The second stage of the race, which was to have been continued on Tuesday, included a run over French territory from Bordeaux to the Spanish frontier. Premier Combes' action will probably lead to the race being abandoned.

Dispatches arriving from points along the course add to the list of fatalities and accidents. The most terrible occurred near Bonneval, 19 miles from Chartres, where machine No. 243, driven by M. Porter, was overturned at a railroad crossing and took fire. The chauffeur was caught under the automobile and burned to death, while two soldiers and a child were killed.

A chauffeur was badly injured by an accident to his motor car near Angouleme. A woman crossing the road in the neighborhood of Abils was run over by one of the competing cars and killed.

OVERTURNED IN A DITCH.

Mr. Stead and his chauffeur, who were first reported to have been killed, are still alive. It seems that their automobile collided with another car with which Mr. Stead had been racing for several kilometers, wheel to wheel, and was completely overturned in a ditch near Monteguron. Mr. Stead was caught under the machine while his chauffeur was hurled to a distance of 30 feet and had his head and body badly cut. Mr. Stead was conscious when he was picked up, but complained of suffering great pain. He was conveyed to the nearest farm.

It is stated that Louis Penault's automobile attained at Becourdiniere, between Chartres and Bonneval, a maximum speed of 88¾ miles per hour.

It is reported that the Spanish government has also forbidden the continuance of the race on Spanish territory.

The first stage in the race, from Versailles to Bordeaux, 343 miles, was finished at noon today, when Louis Renault dashed at a furious pace into Bordeaux, having made a record run of 8 hours and 27 minutes. An hour later M. Gabriel arrived with a still better record of 8 hours and 7 minutes. It is estimated from the times made that these automobiles covered 62 miles an hour on the road outside the cities.

VANDERBILT GIVES IT UP.

The name of W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., disappeared from the reports along the route after Rambouillet, where he passed 28 in order at 4:45 this morning, going in fine form. The omission of his name from the dispatches from Chartres, the next town on the road, caused some anxiety and brought forth a number of inquiries. It was learned later that he, Henri Fournier and Baron de Forest withdrew from the race together before reaching Chartres. All of them suffered breakdowns, and having lost three hours, they decided that it was useless to continue.

Mr. Vanderbilt and Baron de Forest returned to the Hotel Ritz at 11 o'clock this morning. They laughed and made light of their withdrawal. Foxhall Keene, Tod

STRUCK DEAD BY LIGHTNING

Milton W. Robinson's Pleasure Trip Cut Short in Schenley Park.

STOOD UNDER A TREE

Bolt Went Down Through Trunk and Victim's Body Acted as Conductor.

YOUTH WAS ALSO STRUCK

While standing under a tree in Schenley park to escape a wetting, Milton W. Robinson of No. 203 Steuben street, West End, was killed by lightning yesterday afternoon. Only a few seconds before he had jumped from a buggy to take refuge behind the tree. Within a radius of 25 feet were six other men, none of whom was hurt.

The accident happened not far from the south end of the Panther hollow bridge, just at the junction of the bridle path and the Riverview road. Twenty-five feet away is a shelter house under construction and almost completed. The ash tree under which Robinson was killed is at the point made by the junction of the two roads, not three feet away from either road.

Witnesses to the fatality were William Long, the Water street liveryman; A. J. Bell of No. 134 Fulton street, Bell's brother; A. L. Gerdis of Lincoln Park; M. Burns of No. 730 Cherry, and three negroes, Benjamin Johnson, Philip Lewis and Samuel Jones.

Long was in a buggy standing in the road; the Bells were in another buggy behind Long's; the three negroes were in the tool house of the contractor who is building the shelter pavilion, and Gerdis and Burns had fled to the shelter house to escape the rain.

HAD ARRANGED A PLEASURE TRIP.

Robinson had made an appointment with Long to take a buggy ride, and the Bells were to go along in another buggy. At 1:15 p. m. the party left Long's livery stable and drove out Forbes street to the park. The sky looked threatening, and when the two vehicles were about 100 yards from the bridle path the storm broke. The wind was driving the rain almost horizontally and Robinson remarked that he was going to keep dry and take shelter under the tree, abreat of which the buggy had now come. Long pulled up the horse and Robinson jumped out and ran behind the tree. This caused the Bell brothers' horse to stop and A. J. Bell jumped out and began to raise his buggy top.

There was a blinding flash of lightning and a loud crash. Long's horse bolted and as Bell looked up he saw Robinson lying under the tree, flat on his back. Bell ran over to him and found him convulsively gasping. He died an instant later. Samuel Jones, the watchman for the contractor, ran for help and met Park Policeman Duffy, who told Marshall McClain, acting superintendent of Schenley park. A great many people were in the conservatory, and to avoid excitement McClain did not telephone for the patrol wagon, but sent a park wagon to the scene, and Robinson's body was taken over to No. 4 police station in Forbes street, and then to the morgue.

COURSE OF THE LIGHTNING BOLT.

The course of the bolt could be plainly followed on Robinson's body. Standing behind the tree, two feet from the base, he had stretched out his hand, which was resting on the trunk. The lightning struck the tree, ran down it to five feet from the ground, whence it leaped to Robinson's hand, entering the ground at his feet. There was a gash four inches long on the right side of his throat; his

LYNCHING OF A NEGRO PREVENTED BY POLICE

Frenzied Lawrenceville Crowd Demanded the Blood of a Black Man Who Had Attacked a Little Girl.

A lynching in Lawrenceville was only prevented last night by the prompt action of a policeman. The frenzied crowd demanded the blood of a negro, and a rope was all ready to be adjusted to the nearest telegraph pole. It was only by presenting a firm front and displaying his revolver that the officer succeeded in getting his man to the nearest patrol box, where he was locked in until the arrival of the wagon with a force of reserves.

The excited white people stood outside the residence of Mrs. Mary Coleman, No. 3151 Mulberry alley, as Policeman Battle Keys arrested W. T. Cousins, a negro charged with assaulting the 13-year-old ward of Mrs. Coleman. Threats of lynching filled the air and time and time again the crowd surged around the negro and tried to release him from the officer to carry out their threats.

The little girl stood on the step and, although frightened almost to death, cried out not to kill the man, but to take him to the police station. The crowd followed Officer Keys as he marched the negro to the patrol box, and each step they took their anger seemed to increase. The man was placed on the wagon and the reserves ordered to disperse the crowd.

The screams of the young girl attracted the attention of the officer. The girl's mother is in the Municipal hospital with the smallpox and her father is dead. The child was in the care of Mrs. Coleman, who was at church. Keys was walking past the house, the front door of which stood open. At the sound of the girl's voice he rushed inside and in the parlor, in the dim light from the street, he behald the figure of a girl struggling in the arms of a stalwart man.

Keys instantly rushed up to the man and struck him in the face, making him relinquish his hold on the girl. He dragged the man out into the street. The negro nearly overpowered the officer and the latter called for help. A number of white men and boys readily responded. At the sight of the men coming to the officer's assistance Cousins became calm and told the officer he would behave and go to the station house quietly. When the crowd saw that the man was subdued they prepared to walk away and leave the negro to his fate.

But one man asked Keys what the negro was being arrested for, and Keys told him. Upon hearing that the man turned back and attempted to lynch him.

POLICE CHIEF SNYDER WAS MURDERER'S VICTIM, SAYS DR. THOMAS PARRY

Minister Accuses Lawbreakers of Causing Death of Wilkinsburg Official.

"I would like to ask a question. How did Chief Snyder die last Sunday? He was murdered. Who murdered him? The very men who are today agitating for a continental Sabbath brought about a condition of lawlessness in Wilkinsburg that forced Snyder into a fray that compassed his death. They are accomplices in his murder."

This assertion was made yesterday in his sermon on "Law Breakers" by the Rev. Thomas Parry, pastor of the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church.

Wilkinsburg is in the throes of a blue law crusade. On Saturday the burgess, John A. Keys, announced that he favored a modification of the ancient statutes and would permit certain classes of stores to operate after 1 p. m. on Sundays.

On the day of his death, Chief George W. Snyder and several officers made a raid on a crowd of negro crap shooters in Crab hollow and captured 15 of them, who were fined $15 each. Then the chief went after another negro who had escaped in the first raid and who gave Snyder a hard tussle. After the negro had been placed in jail Snyder complained of feeling ill and went home.

Snyder went to bed about 4 o'clock and arose shortly afterward feeling much refreshed. However, it was not long until he began to complain again, and at 7 o'clock he expired. His death was caused by paralysis of the heart, brought on by strenuous work while performing his duty

ONE WAS FATALLY SHOT, TWO OTHERS SERIOUSLY IN STREETS OF FREEDOM

One Man Is Fatally Injured and Two Others Are Wounded.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Freedom, Pa., May 24.—In a shooting affray on the street here this evening three men were shot, one fatally. They are:

LEO ORANZO, shot above the heart through the right shoulder and through the left arm; cannot recover.

TONY ORANZO, shot in the right shoulder.

ANGELO TUREINZO, shot in the back.

The men, all Italians, were drinking beer today, and this evening all were more or less intoxicated. Leo Oranzo and Tureinzo began to fight, and soon carried the combat to the street, where after tusseling for some time, Tureinzo, it is said, pulled a 32-caliber revolver and said he would shoot. Leo dared him, and Tureinzo pulled the trigger, the bullet striking Leo in the arm.

The shot brought Leo's brother Tony to the scene, who, when he saw what was being done, returned to the house to get his revolver. Before he could return Tureinzo had fired two more shots, one of the bullets hitting Leo in the shoulder and the other in the chest, in close proximity to the heart and he fell to the ground unconscious. The bullet in his chest is expected to prove fatal.

Tony rushed out of the house, only to receive a shot in the right shoulder, and as Tureinzo turned to run, Tony fired at him, the bullet taking effect in his back. This, however, did not stop his flight and up to a late hour he has not been captured. It is thought that he left for Pittsburgh on the 7 o'clock train, which was at the station at the time of the shooting.

SHOT WOMAN AND HIMSELF IN A PARK

New Castle Man Used Revolver With Probable Fatal Results.

ENDING OF QUARREL

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

New Castle, Pa., May 24.—Charles Grannis, son of John Grannis of Cunningham avenue, this city, shot Mrs. Della May Ryhal at Cascade park this evening and then shot himself. Both are at the Shenango Valley hospital here and it is said that neither can live.

Mrs. Ryhal is the wife of John N. Ryhal of this city. They have not lived together for three years, but are not divorced. Mrs. Ryhal has been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart, of 1005 Ashland avenue. Grannis has been paying attention to her for some time, and today he went to the Stewart home and took Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Ryhal to the Pumpkintown cemetery. On the way back the young people had some misunderstanding, but Mrs. Stewart acted as peacemaker and the matter was righted.

They stopped at Cascade park, and about 1:30 o'clock Mrs. Stewart said she was going home. Then her daughter said that she was going, too. Grannis told her not to go yet as he wanted to tell her something. She asked him to tell her then, but he objected. Mrs. Stewart asked him to tell what he wanted to say, but still he refused. The party were seated on a park bench and Grannis put his hand on Mrs. Ryhal's shoulder, and, it is alleged, said he would choke her to death.

He drew her toward him and fired two shots from a revolver which he had in his pocket. One of the shots struck Mrs. Ryhal in the left breast near the heart and the other struck her to the right breast. She fell to the ground as if dead. Grannis then turned the gun on himself and fired twice, one ball hitting him in the forehead, making a scalp wound, and the other in the chest, going entirely through one lung. He fell beside the girl and the horrified mother screamed for help. She assisted the young woman to arise and with assistance she was able to walk to a carriage nearby.

Both young people are well known here. Mrs. Ryhal is 27 years old, a brunette and handsome. She married John Ryhal about nine years ago. They have no children. Mrs. Ryhal is a member of the Long Avenue Disciple church of this place. Grannis is about 27 years old, and is a slater by trade.

C. M. SCHWAB IS ILL.

Steel President Hastens to New York to Consult Physician.

ALTOONA, May 24.—(Special)—The vacation of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who came to Loretto, his retreat on top of the Allegheny mountains about a week ago, has come to a very sudden and unexpected termination by departure on his private car, for New York at the noon hour today.

It is evident that the steel president is ill and in more serious condition than is generally supposed by the general public. Upon his arrival in New York he intends to at once seek the services of his physician, Dr. Germany.

ELKIN WISHES MODEST PART

Former Attorney General Declines Chairmanship of State Convention.

FRIENDS ARE WARY.

Speaker Walton Will Likely Preside Over Republican Deliberations.

CLANS ARE ASSEMBLING.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Public Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.

All of the prominent candidates for honors at the hands of the Republican state convention will reach Harrisburg tomorrow. Delaware and Chester counties, the homes of the candidates for state treasurer and auditor general, have arranged for demonstrations calculated to impress the convention with the high regard in which their favorite sons are held at home.

W. L. Mathues, candidate for the treasurership nomination, has engaged a special train which will carry the Delaware boomers, and State Senator Snyder, candidate for auditor general, has made the same arrangement for his Chester county friends. Both trains will leave Broad street station Tuesday morning. There will be a half dozen marching clubs, each with a band, from either county, and the intention is to make just as much noise as though the result was not a foregone conclusion.

District Attorney W. J. Schaffer will present Mr. Mathues' name to the convention, and it is probable that District Attorney Baldwin will act in the same capacity for Senator Snyder.

Senator Penrose and Speaker Walton will leave for Harrisburg on a morning train. They expect Senator Quay to join them tomorrow when all unfinished details will be decided. Although strongly urged to do so, ex-Attorney General Elkin declined to be considered for the permanent chairmanship of the convention.

AFRAID IT IS LOADED.

Friends of Mr. Elkin say that while he desires to remain in the public eye he was fearful that the proffered honor might be loaded. His friends advised him that there might be some unfriendly reference to the new libel law, and it would be wise for him to not be behind the gavel in such an event; that it might prove troublesome when his next gubernatorial campaign is inaugurated. So that Mr. Elkin concluded to be an onlooker.

While the question is not absolutely settled, it is probable that Speaker Walton will be made permanent chairman of the convention. Mr. Walton will not say that he is slated, neither will he deny the statement, but it would not be a surprise should the leaders tip him as the most available man. It should be remembered that unless the convention elects, the nominees for state treasurer and auditor general and the permanent chairman of the convention will select the next chairman of the Republican state committee, who will succeed Col. Quay. Mr. Walton would certainly favor the election of Senator Penrose, who has been agreed upon as Quay's successor.

T. Larry Eyre of Chester, assisted by other prominent home friends of Senator Snyder, will open headquarters tomorrow for the candidate for auditor

LIVELY FIGHT IS SCHEDULED

Ohio Republican State Convention Will Be an Interesting Affair.

HANNA OR FORAKER

Unless One Yields Forces Will Clash on Indorsement of Roosevelt's Candidacy.

BOTH ARE DETERMINED

By L. W. STRAYER,
Staff Correspondent.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Akron, O., May 24.—If the lines remain drawn as at present until the Republican state convention meets in Columbus on June 3 there will be the hottest kind of a fight over the question of indorsing the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt for president. In this county the feeling is intense and reports from other counties throughout the state indicate that the sentiment in favor of a Roosevelt indorsement is strong.

Ohio is for Roosevelt, everybody admits that fact, including Senator Hanna and Republicans here believe that Senator Hanna is for Roosevelt and they do not think he is nursing a presidential ambition of his own. Then the question is, why is Hanna so anxious to prevent the convention indorsing Roosevelt's candidacy? The principal reason given by the senator in the statement published this morning is that to indorse Roosevelt this year would not be fair to other prospective candidates for the presidency.

In other words, Ohio should wait until all possible candidates are in the field before expressing a preference. This reason doesn't seem good to the Republicans of Summit county. A prominent attorney, who has taken an active part in politics for several years, said today:

SHOULD FORESTALL OTHERS.

"Senator Hanna's reasons why the state convention should not indorse Roosevelt this year appear to me to furnish the best possible reason why such action should be taken. He says it would cause just criticism on the part of any other person who might aspire to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1904. Now Ohio is a strong Roosevelt state and we want no other candidate in the field. Consequently if an indorsement of Roosevelt by this year's convention will tend to quash the aspirations of other candidates it seems to me to be precisely the action the convention should take. We are for Roosevelt and the sooner we get on record the better it will be for us and for him."

C. P. Berry, Republican county chairman, is a delegate to the state convention, and he is firmly convinced that the convention should declare for Roosevelt.

"If the Republicans do not pass a resolution indorsing Roosevelt, it will be a great mistake," said he. "There is no good reason why this action should not be taken and there are many why it should. The Republicans of this county and of this state all favor him as the candidate and they should be permitted to go on record to this effect. I think the convention will take this view of the matter."

Gen. Dick, the state chairman, has not given his views on the subject but he is a shrewd politician and his friends say that he is not pleased at the situation.

JEWS ARE WARNED TO LEAVE RUSSIA WITHIN ONE YEAR

Covert Threat of Further Massacres Contained in Article in Influential Anti-Semitic Newspaper of Kishineff.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

St. Petersburg, May 24.—While it is not intended to imply that the government's Jewish policy aims at stimulating Jewish emigration, observers expect that this will be the result of it. It is noteworthy, however, that M. Kronshevan, the editor of the Bessarayiz, the anti-Semitic paper of Kischineff, writing after the massacre, oratorically addressed the Jews in an editorial as follows:

"Become Christians and our brothers and enjoy all the privileges of Russian citizenship. If not, you have one year to go where you please. After that term has expired there must not remain a single Jew in Russia unless he is Christianized and thereafter entrance to Russia will be forbidden to the Jews forever."

M. Kronshevan's defenders include, besides the Novoe Vremya and other Nationalist papers, the director of the department of police, M. Lopoukhen, who, upon returning from Kischineff, told a leading Liberal journalist that Kronshevan "was the only man in Russia who had not been bought by the Jews."

News has reached here privately from Warsaw that on May 5 the workingmen there unfurled red flags, shouted "Down with the autocracy" and sang revolutionary songs. A thousand men participated actively and many more passively in this demonstration. The affair was suppressed by the Cossacks and police.

NEW YORK, May 24.—(Special)—While no tabulation was made of today's receipts by the various funds for the relief of the Hebrews in Kishineff, enough was known at the close of the day to show that the total East Side fund has reached about $54,000. The fund being raised by the Jewish Daily News of No. 185 East Broadway, which is part of the East Side fund, today amounted to $11,000 and it is said that contributions of the last 24 hours will add at least $800 to that total. The proprietors of the Jewish Daily News, Sarasohn & Son, stated that there was no sign of cessation in the donations and they hoped to keep open the books until $25,000 had been raised.

VICTIM SAYS LEE RAN ELEVATOR ON THAT FATAL TRIP

Mrs. Lulu Postelwaite Acquits Gillis and Asserts Colored Man Leaped from Cage in Safety as Elevator Descended.

That Frank Lee, colored, the regular elevator man, and not Prof. L. N. Gillis, was running the elevator in the Golob building, No. 1026 Fifth avenue, on Friday night when the terrible accident occurred is the sensational statement of Mrs. Lulu Postelwaite of No. 31 Holland avenue, McKees Rocks, one of the victims of the disaster. She made this statement yesterday to Supt. Bechtel of the Homeopathic hospital, where she is a patient, when for the first time she heard of Gillis' arrest.

Lee, she says, leaped from the elevator as it started to descend and landed in safety on the hall floor. It was rumored at the scene of the accident on Friday night that a man had escaped from the elevator, but no one there seemed to know who it was. Mrs. Postelwaite's statement puts an entirely different aspect on the accident and may lead to Lee's arrest and to Prof. Gillis' being let out of jail on bail.

Mrs. Postelwaite says she and her little daughter, Florence, got on a car at Cecil alley and Liberty avenue on the night of the accident to ride to the dance. Prof. Gillis, his wife and child got on the same car at Market street, and all got off when the hall was reached. They entered the elevator at once, and she says the regular elevator man, Frank Lee, was in charge. Before it was started up several other people got in, and Prof. Gillis told Lee not to let any more in. The latter asked how he could stop them, and Prof. Gillis told him to shut the door and start. This, she says, Lee did.

As they all wanted to get off at the fifth floor, they were surprised when Lee did not stop there, but continued to the sixth floor. The car ran above that level, she says, and then began to descend. The half-door on the elevator is only about five feet high and, she says, when the elevator got down to the fifth floor Lee leaped over the top of it and fell on the hall floor. Prof. Gillis, she says, then said: "Brace yourselves," and she remembers no more until the rescuers were taking her out of the wrecked car. She is positive Prof. Gillis was not running the car and that he did not make attempt to do so after Lee jumped out. She did not feel that the car was dropping fast and had no realization of falling. She did, however, feel that there was danger, as the elevator had not been working right for some time and did not respond to the lever.

Mrs. Postelwaite desired to make the foregoing statement to the coroner, but nobody from that office has as yet called to see her. While she is in no danger from her injury, she is still at the hospital and will be required to remain there two weeks. Mrs. Postelwaite is not a teacher at the school. She was a student there, taking a course of [illegible]

GREAT DAMAGE BY CLOUDBURST

Hundreds of Persons Homeless Through Floods in Oklahoma.

LARGE AREA DELUGED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
ENID, OKLA., May 24.—Hundreds of persons were rendered homeless and property damage to the extent of $500,000 was done in the Enid bottoms alone by a cloudburst that struck west of this city last midnight. The aggregate damage will probably be much higher on account of losses sustained between Enid and the seat of the storm. A bank of water three feet high and 200 feet wide, swept down through the bottoms carrying houses and everything before it. It came upon Enid without warning, while most of its citizens were asleep. Within a few minutes 100 houses were partly or completely submerged.

Rescuers went to work immediately and all night labored to save persons from perilous positions. Many lost everything they possessed. The means for relieving distress are inadequate. The rainfall the past 10 days has been the heaviest in the history of Oklahoma, and indications are that more will follow. Reports of losses in the country west of Enid are meager, but it is believed that heavy damage was done.

CHICKASHA, I. T., May 24.—A severe rain and windstorm passed over Chickasha and through the Washita valley last night. The damage was confined mostly to the Rock Island and Frisco railroads. Two Rock Island bridges over the Canadian and Washita rivers were washed out, carrying more than 800 feet of track with them, and effectually blocking traffic.

A northbound Rock Island passenger train ran into a washout, five miles north of Chickasha, and left the track. There was no loss of life. Another Rock Island passenger train on the Mangum branch arrived here after passing through a terrific hailstorm, during which almost every window in the train was broken. Two bridges on the Frisco railway between Chickasha and Oklahoma City were washed out.

TOPEKA, KAN., May 24.—High water is causing much trouble for Kansas railroads. The Santa Fe reports 180 feet of track washed out near Quenemo. The Missouri Pacific has a washout at Richland, and the Rock Island is having difficulty in moving trains in Northern Kansas. On the Central branch of the Missouri Pacific the tracks are in a bad condition, and traffic on the Union Pacific is much delayed. At Emporia the Cottonwood river is overflowing its banks and flooding farming country. Heavy general rains have fallen in Kansas for a week and another steady fall coverd the central portion of the state today.

BOSTON PAID TRIBUTE TO EMERSON'S MEMORY

Senator Hoar and President Eliot Deliver Eulogies on Great Author.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
BOSTON, May 24.—Many of the city pastors devoted their morning sermons to Ralph Waldo Emerson, the 100th anniversary of whose birth is tomorrow. The principal Emerson memorial service was held this evening in Symphony hall under the auspices of the American Unitarian association. After the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale had offered prayer Senator George F. Hoar, who presided, opened the meeting with a brief address. He said:

Ralph Waldo Emerson, among his other precious legacies, redefined for us and taught us anew the value of the human affections. He was a royal and noble lover. He loved wife and children and home and neighbors and friends and town and country and college.

Emerson loved liberty and justice. His picture of a New England town, for which Concord sat, his picture of his beloved city where "twice each day the flowing sea takes Boston in its arms," and his "Fortune of the Republic" all bear this mark, which the love of country, of birthplace and of town had reached at that time. So it is fitting that Boston and Concord and Harvard should be foremost in utter on this anniversary what all his countrymen are thinking.

President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard said:

Emerson has been dead 21 years, and it is 30 since he wrote anything new, but his whole philosophy of life was developed by the time he was 40 years old, and it may be doubted if he wrote anything after 1845 the general expression of which may not be found in his journals, sermons or lectures written before that date. If, therefore, we find in the accepted thought or established institutions of today recent developments of principles and maxims laid down by Emerson we may fairly say that his thought outran his times, certainly by one, and probably by two, generations of men.

ROOSEVELT'S TIME WAS HIS OWN ON SUNDAY

SEATTLE, WASH., May 24.—Sunday was spent very quietly by President Roosevelt. During the morning the president attended the memorial services of the Grand Army of the Republic at the Grand opera house. The Rev. J. M. Wilson preached the sermon that struck a popular chord in which the president was highly interested. There was a large gathering at the service and all paid their respects to the president. In the afternoon the president and some members of his party took a horseback ride out to Fort Lawton.

The party will leave Seattle over the Northern Pacific on the return to the east early tomorrow morning. Stops will be made at various points in Washington.

Robert Barbour and James Murray were sent to jail yesterday charged with aggravated assault. They are accused of holding up and attempting to rob William G. Vance, collector for the Franklin Trust Company, and who lives at No. 6224 Broad street, in Frankstown avenue early yesterday morning. They knocked him down and rifled his pockets.

Both men started to run, but Inspector Gray and Officer Williams took up the chase and captured them within a few squares.

REVISION TO AGAIN COME UP IN ASSEMBLY

Overture Sent to Committee For Purpose of Reopening the Subject.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Ministers in attendance upon the Presbyterian general assembly occupied pulpits in every Protestant church in Los Angeles today, and many of the commissioners preached in suburban towns. Immanuel church held a large and distinguished audience this morning to hear Dr. Coyle, the new moderator.

Business sessions of the assembly will be resumed tomorrow morning. Present indications are that there will be a contest in the assembly before the week's end. Special overtures have gone to the committee on bills and overtures, and are construed by some to be of a bitter and personal nature. One of the overtures relates to revision, and it is generally believed that it was sent for the purpose of opening the question and giving a chance for discussion on the floor of the assembly. The creed as revised, is practically a part of the law of the church. The question will be brought up Thursday on account of some technicalities which have arisen, and if the committee shall see fit it may present the overtures at that time. This would give the anti-revisionists another chance for a closing word.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA

Large Warehouse Destroyed and Three Firemen Injured—Merchandise Burned.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—A fire that is estimated to have caused a loss of upwards of $1,000,000 occurred this evening in the building of the Front Street Warehousing Company, North Front street. The building was three stories high, in Front street, and five in the rear, and had two sub-cellars. Merchandise of a general character was stored in the place.

Almost the entire fire department was called out, and surrounding property was saved, the flames being confined to the warehouse. Everything in the building was destroyed by either fire or water. The contents of the building were owned by many firms and individuals, and fire insurance underwriters who were at the scene were unable to say tonight what amount of insurance was carried on the goods. The building was owned by Jacob Wiseman, and was valued at $65,000. Three firemen were injured, two of them sustaining fractured shoulder blades.

BAILEY FOR PRESIDENT.

United States Senator From Texas Hailed as Democracy's Coming Leader.

DALLAS, TEX., May 24.—Today's issue of the Houston Chronicle contains an editorial, apparently inspired, strongly advocating the nomination by the Democrats next year of United States Senator J. W. Bailey for president.

The Chronicle is financially backed by John Kirby, the most remarkable man of affairs in Texas. Mr. Kirby and Mr. Bailey are closely allied politically, socially and in a business way. There is little doubt that Mr. Kirby would like to see Mr. Bailey elected president.

The Chronicle editorially says in part: "Mr. Bailey believes in a government of delegated power. He could never be betrayed into pressing upon a national convention the unconstitutional idiocy of the initiative and referendum. Senator Bailey is one of the greatest men intellectually in the public life of the nation today. He is recognized as the soundest lawyer on the floor of the distinguished body of which he is a member. He will some day be the party's leader and will win where Mr. Bryan lost."

MUST CLOSE SALOONS.

Secretary Moody Warns City Officials of Bremerton of Consequences.

TACOMA, WASH., May 24.—(Special.)—Secretary of the Navy Moody yesterday informed the city officials of Bremerton that the saloons in Front street in that town must be abolished or the department would reduce work in the Puget sound navy yard to the minimum. Front street faces the navy yard and its saloons and gambling houses have heretofore been an open temptation to the sailors and workmen.

The department took the matter up several months ago, giving the city officials the warning which Secretary Moody now repeats. The saloon licenses were rescinded but later a majority of the council authorized their continuance. He did not mince words yesterday in declaring that a large amount of the repair work on war ships now ordered for the Puget sound navy yard will be done elsewhere unless every saloon is moved from Front street.

GOMPERS PROMISES AID.

Federation President Endeavoring to Raise Money for Cotton Strikers.

LOWELL, MASS., May 24.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor addressed an audience of about 4,000 strikers on the South common this afternoon. He said that to win the strikers must touch the mill men in their pocketbooks. He made light of the condition of the cotton market. His most significant utterance was as follows:

"I believe, and I hope that you will, win in this fight. Anything within my power will be done to aid you. I am not prepared to state the extent of my aid, but I am here to say that I recently issued a circular to all organized labor in America to aid the strikers of Lowell. I do not think that so much money will come to Lowell as came to the miners, but I hope that it will come in sufficient amounts to enable you to buy bread and maintain your manhood and womanhood; and if you fail it will not be my fault."

ALLEGHENY GIRL MISSING.

Dora Grimm, Aged 23, Mysteriously Disappeared on Saturday.

George Grimm of No. 1410 Madison avenue, Allegheny, reported to the police last night that his daughter, Dora, aged 23, had disappeared on Saturday morning and had not returned. Grimm said his daughter worked at James Collins' cigar and tobacco factory, at Second and East streets, Allegheny. Saturday morning She went to work, taking $5 with her to get a hat and a pair of shoes. She returned shortly afterward and said she had lost the $5. Telling her mother not to worry about the loss she went out again and has not been seen since.

Grimm says his daughter was partly deranged some time ago and was in a sanitarium. He had noticed nothing about her that would lead to the belief in a recurrence of the malady. The girl is five feet six inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has black hair, dark eyes and had on brown clothes.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 24.—(Special.)—Mother Stewart, the world renowned crusader, has sold her place "Apple Blossoms House," and tonight announced that she would move to Chicago to take up her residence in the City of Zion, Alexander Dowie's settlement.

Mother Stewart is a prominent Methodist, in consequence of the announcement there is a great sensation.

HANDSOME NEW TEMPLE IS DEDICATED TO GOD

First Christian Church of Dravosburg.

With appropriate ceremonies the members of the First Christian church at Dravosburg yesterday dedicated their new building, which has just been completed, at Raymond and Duquesne avenues, North Dravosburg. Services were held in the new building all day and the dedicatory sermon was delivered by the Rev. Thomas E. Cramblet, D. D., LL. D., president of Bethany college, who was formerly pastor of the East End Christian church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. J. A. Joyce, the pastor of the church, was assisted in the services by a number of visiting ministers.

The Dravosburg congregation is a new one, having been organized but a year ago, and its membership is small. The new building was made possible by the generosity of S. S. Crump, burgess of Dravosburg borough, who donated a site for the building, gave several thousand dollars toward its construction and finally purchased a handsome pipe organ and presented it to the church. The bell in the church tower is also a gift from Mr. Crump.

The building is of brick and stone and the interior is handsomely finished in light woods. The furnishings are of oak and the rooms are so arranged that they can be thrown into a large auditorium. The cost of the new church approximates $10,000.

AUTO RACERS WERE KILLED AND MAIMED

Sloan and W. J. Dannat, the American artist, did not appear at the starting line this morning when their turn was reached and consequently did not take part in the race. C. Grant Brinsmore is thus the only American left in.

Versailles passed a night of wild excitement. It is estimated that 100,000 persons crowded into the little town to witness the start of the race. Soldiers with fixed bayonets lined the track for some distance from Versailles.

A bomb was exploded at 3:35 a. m. as a signal to get ready and immediately Charles Jarrot's car drew into place. Another bomb was fired at 3:45 for the start and then the enormous machine shot forward amid the shouts of the thousands of spectators. The other cars followed in quick succession. Mme. de Gast, the sole female competitor in last year's Paris-Berlin race, was again the only woman to participate in the present contest. Her machine was decked in flowers and her departure was the signal for a great ovation. She made a splendid run, passing four of her competitors before reaching Chartres. The crowd around Mr. Vanderbilt's machine prevented him from reaching the starting line in time and he was further delayed by a controversy with the judges, finally starting two minutes late. The last departure was at 6:45 this morning.

The reports along the route soon showed that Louis Renault was making a great race and before Chartres he had overtaken and passed Charles Jarrott, M. Rene de Kuyff and gained a lead which he never after lost. Dispatches from Vendome, Tours and Poictiers told of his passing through ahead and Bordeaux sent the announcement of his arrival first, at 6 hours 13 minutes and 45 seconds. He had beaten Henri Fournier's record of 8 hours and 44 minutes.

JARROTT FINISHES SECOND.

Charles Jarrott finished second at 12:30, having covered the course in eight hours, 44 minutes. M. Gabriel arrived third at 1:08, his time being eight hours, 7 minutes. The other contestants who made fast time were J. Shalleron, 8 hours, 40 minutes; Baron de Crawher, eight hours, 53 minutes; J. B. Warden, eight hours, 59 minutes, and M. Voight, eight hours, 55 minutes.

During the afternoon word of the accidents began to arrive and cast a cloud over the event. A dispatch from Bordeaux announced that Lorraine Barrows had met with a shocking accident near Liboruns, 17 miles from Bordeaux, at 1:45 this afternoon. It appears that Mr. Barrows had tried to avoid a dog which was crossing the track, and his monster car, number five in the race, struck a tree with terrific force. His chauffeur was killed outright. Barrows himself was picked up unconscious, but still breathing, and was taken to a hospital, where his condition was declared to be critical. His car was dashed to pieces. Shortly afterwards news came that Marcel Renault had been overturned in a deep ditch beside the road near Couche, 21 miles from Peictiers, and that he was dangerously injured.

The automobile club of Bordeaux received a dispatch at 4 o'clock saying Renault was unconscious, and it was feared dying. Louis Renault, Marcel's brother, was deeply affected by the news and at once started back to his brother's assistance. Orders were given to withdraw all the Renault cars from the race. Many lesser breakdowns and casualties are reported. An early report that one of the two brothers Farman had been injured is unconfirmed.

The result of the first stage of the race appears to be a draw between the merits of the light and heavy vehicles. Louis Renault drove a light machine, weighing 650 pounds and of 30-horse power, while Gabriel drove a heavy machine of 70-horse power, weighing 1,000 pounds.

The time and position of the winners of the first stage, deducting the time allowance for slowing down inside the cities are as follows: Gabriel, 5 hours, 13 minutes; Louis Renault, 5 hours, 32 minutes; Sallerson, 5 hours, 46 minutes; Jarrott, 8 hours, 51 minutes; Warden, 5 hours, 56 minutes; Baron de Crawher, 6 hours, one minute; Voight, 6 hours, 2 minutes; Barras, 6 hours, 13 minutes; Rougier, 6 hours, 16 minutes, and Mouter, 6 hours, 17 minutes.

BRISTOL, ENGLAND, May 24.—A serious motorcycle accident occurred here yesterday. The motor swerved into a crowd of spectators, two of whom were killed and many others seriously injured.

YOUTH RAN AWAY IN DIME NOVEL FASHION

Lawrence Tragesser, 13 years old, of No. 117 Eureka street, is missing and is thought to have run away in the most up-to-date dime-novel fashion. The boy seemingly retired about 9 o'clock Saturday night and some time later threw his clothes out of the window. He then went out into the yard, where he discarded his night robe for his clothes and then left the place.

WAS STRUCK DEAD BY LIGHTNING IN PARK

coat sleeve was torn, the collar and necktie were ripped off, the front of the shirt was torn, the trousers were cut and both shoes were torn, hair and mustache were singed and the eyebrows were burned off.

The lightning damaged the tree apparently little. There was a barely perceptible scar running down one of the limbs, and just below the fork and where the lightning leaped from the tree a piece of bark two feet long and three inches wide was torn off.

A peculiar feature was that although at least five men saw Robinson at the instant he was struck, not one saw him fall. The three negroes were looking out of the window in the tool house straight at him, yet they all say they did not see him drop; before the flash he was standing up, and in an instant he was lying on the ground. Gerdis and Burns saw him erect and then saw him lying flat.

"I saw Long's buggy stop and Robinson jump out of it," said A. J. Bell, "and then I stopped and got down to raise our buggy top. I was bending my head to keep the rain out of my face and was looking at Robinson, who was resting with his right hand against the tree. The flash seemed to blind me for an instant. When I looked up Robinson was on the ground."

The crash of thunder that followed the blasting of the tree scared Long's horse and it ran off. Long managed to keep it in the road and it ran up toward the race track. It was only after Long had forced it around the track twice that it quieted down and could be brought back to the scene of the accident. By that time the corpse had been removed and Long drove over to the police station.

The body was removed to the morgue, where it was later identified by Austin T. Robinson of No. 1412 Arch street, Allegheny, a brother. The dead man had been a salesman for the harness house of Gardis & Gould. He was 35 years old and unmarried.

At about the same time and near the same place that Milton W. Robinson of the West End, was killed in Schenley park yesterday, John Wilson, aged 15, of Fulton street, was struck. At that time the rain was pouring down, the thunder was roaring and lightning flashes very frequent. Young Wilson went to the park stables, in the rear of the conservatory, to escape the storm. Suddenly there was a sharp flash, a cry of pain and the boy fell to the ground. Park employes and bystanders thought he was dead and a physician was sent for.

A. J. Bell of No. 124 Fulton street, loaned his horse and carriage to bring the doctor to the boy's aid. After working with him for some time the youth was finally brought around to consciousness and was able to be taken home. Beyond the shock he was not seriously injured.

While the physician was hurrying to the park in Bell's carriage the horse became frightened and ran the carriage against a telegraph pole, damaging it considerably.

Heavy downpouring of rain alternated yesterday with scorching heat. Up to noon the day was fair and clear and not too warm. About midday, however, the first shower came down, lasting about 15 minutes. Throughout the day showers were sandwiched in between very hot weather. One prostration was reported.

John McShane, of Wylie avenue, was overcome at Sidney and South Twenty-second streets. He was taken to the South Side hospital. His condition is not serious.

Wind and lightning were in evidence during the showers. A house which was being erected at Wall station, on the Pennsylvania railroad, was blown down.

A street car of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was struck near East McKeesport. The car was damaged, the controller being burned out, and a number of passengers were injured who jumped from the car. The injured were all men.

A number of women attempted to jump off, but were prevented by men on the car. No attempt was made by the male passengers to hinder their own sex.

Every person who jumped sustained bruises, but Christopher O'Toole, aged 27, of Washington street Braddock, was more seriously hurt. In getting over the railing he jumped on the fall on his head, rolled several yards and struck a stone. He was rendered unconscious. Dr. George L. Beswick of Wilmerding, was summoned and removed the injured man to his home in Braddock.

The storm was severe in Braddock, North Braddock, Wilmerding, Port Perry, North Versailles and East McKeesport. It swept furiously over these places, but passed around by East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek. Barely a drop of rain fell in the two places last named.

The heavy rain lasted for about 10 minutes, accompanied by a high wind, and for another ten minutes there was a lively hailstorm. Many trees were struck by lightning in North Braddock and Braddock. Half a dozen were cut down in North and Bell avenues and Eighth street. A huge tree fell across the street car tracks at the junction of the Swissvale, Braddock, East Pittsburgh and Homestead lines. A number of houses were unroofed and chimneys torn down in the boroughs.

TROOPS ON GUARD IN FEUD DISTRICT

Jackson, Kentucky, Occupied By State Infantry and Artillery.

GRAND JURY TO MEET

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
LEXINGTON, KY., May 24.—Four companies of infantry and a battery of artillery left this city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for Jackson in compliance with the orders of Gov. Beckham. There are in all 120 men armed with Krag-Jorgenson and Winchester rifles and cannon.

It is the intention of the authorities to keep the troops in Jackson not only during the sitting of the special grand jury which has been called by Circuit Judge Redwine to meet tomorrow, but during the term of court following at which it is expected any persons indicted for the recent assassinations will be tried.

The train was not chartered by the militia and it carried newspapers to Jackson. A number of the Jackson feud refugees, who have been away from the place for several months owing to the threats against their lives, took advantage of the visit of the militia and went along to visit friends and relatives in the feud-ridden town.

Judge James Hargis, the alleged head of the Hargis faction, was in Lexington last night. He is a member of the state

JUDGE JAMES M. BENTON
Of Winchester, Ky., who refused to allow Curtis Jett, the self-confessed assassin of Attorney James B. Marcum, James Cockrill and Dr. Cox at Jackson, to be turned over to the Jackson authorities, believing that in Jackson the witnesses to the crime would fear to tell the truth on the witness stand. The calling of a special term of court in Breathitt county, at which it is proposed to investigate the assassination, is also said it necessary for Judge Benton to turn Jett over to the Jackson people if he is indicted and thus prevent Judge Benton from hearing the evidence in the case, where, in his opinion, the truth would have been told and the mystery solved.

central committee and had been to Frankfort yesterday to meet with the committee. He refused to discuss the visit of the soldiers and the special term of court. He would make no reply to the card of Mrs. Marcum published here this morning answering charges of himself and ex-Senator A. H. Hargis that her husband and his relatives were responsible for much of the crime in Breathitt county. Judge Hargis had a talk with Col. Williams early this morning and told him that he had no objection to the troops camping in or about the court house.

No one here anticipates any trouble during the investigation of the assassinations of Dr. Cox, Jim Cockrill and J. B. Marcum, for which the special term of court has ben called for tomorrow. Curtis Jett, accused of the assassination of Marcum, remains in jail at Winchester, where he was arrested. Habeas corpus proceedings instituted for him will keep him under the jurisdiction of the court there until June 4. It is understood, however, that if an indictment shall be returned at Jackson the Clark county court will surrender Jett to the Breathitt county authorities for immediate trial.

The press of the state takes a pessimistic view of the results to be accomplished at Jackson, the belief being that fear of assassination after the troops are withdrawn will restrain Jackson people from testifying to what they know and what is common knowledge of the three murders specified, and of more than 30 others which have occurred during the last 18 months for which there have been no convictions.

MANUFACTURER'S SON DIES MYSTERIOUSLY

Police Believe He Was Victim of Explosion While Prying Into Competitors' Affairs.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., May 24.—The police of this city are investigating a mysterious explosion which occurred early Saturday morning and the sudden death of the son of the proprietor of a large dressing establishment. The explosion, which caused a fierce blaze, took place at Mills Bros.' leather dressing plant.

A man whose clothing was on fire hurried away from the burning building. Later a physician was hastily summoned to the residence of Michael J. Kennedy of M. J. Kennedy & Co., leather manufacturers, and this morning was announced the death of the former's son, John Kennedy. The family refuses to give out any information concerning Mr. Kennedy's death, other than that at an early hour Saturday morning he appeared at his father's home and said he had met with an accident.

The police think that John Kennedy entered the building to learn what formula was used by competitors in the manufacturing of patent leather. There came the explosion and the injuries that caused his death.

DARROW TALKS ON DANGERS OF UNIONISM

CHICAGO, May 24.—(Special.)—Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for the Pennsylvania coal miners during the recent investigation by the arbitration committee, in an address today before the Henry George association said: "Trade unionism is legally, in its last analysis, the effort to monopolize the labor market in this same line as the trust is the effort to monopolize production. The great growth of trade unionism in the last few years has taken into its body large numbers of men who have narrow views as to its management and control. The great growth of trade unionism has caused its greatest peril."

SIX PERSONS KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION

PLAQUEMINE, LA., May 24.—One of the boilers of Wilson & Cochran's sawmill at Wilcox, near Maringa, exploded and killed six persons. The killed are William Pearson, James Victor, Philip Archer, William Hill, Richard Hill, Jesse Thomas. Nine others are seriously injured and it is thought that two of them will die. No cause is given for the explosion.

ROOSEVELT AND THE SUNDAY GAZETTE BOTH BECOMING MORE POPULAR DAILY

Just as President Roosevelt is going over the country making friends, so is The Sunday Gazette on each successive issue enlarging its thousands of appreciative readers and adding to the many subscribers that have been gathered in the 117 years of its existence. Neither Mark Hanna nor any of the other people high in official life in the country can stem the tide of enthusiasm that is sweeping over the country for "Teddy" for another term, and nothing can stop the enlarging of the subscription and advertising lists of The Sunday Gazette. There is a similarity in the cases of the president and The Sunday Gazette. Both "deliver the goods" and neither caters to any particular class, being fearless and bold and always looking out for the interests of the greatest number of people. As our sporting sharp would say: "Neither plays favorites."

Yesterday's Gazette was a credit to the great city of its home. Everything was covered from all parts of the globe. No news worth and fit for publication was left out. The Gazette spares neither time, labor nor expense in securing news and features that its readers would want. That its efforts are appreciated there is abundance of evidence.

Besides the news The Sunday Gazette yesterday was full of special articles on all kinds of subjects and features that made it a high-class magazine in addition to its other qualifications. The colored pages and the comic departments were of their usual high class, the departments were handled in the usual capable manner and the editorials were fearless, as they always are.

Persons who desire to purchase anything, no matter what it is, do not have to go far to look for what they want, as the advertising columns are filled with notices by up-to-date merchants who have little trouble in disposing of their goods when they use such a medium as The Sunday Gazette.

VERY LIVELY FIGHT SCHEDULED IN OHIO

They do not profess to speak for him on this subject but they have no hesitation in saying that he personally favors the idea of adopting a resolution of indorsement for Roosevelt.

Another delegate to the state convention, a man very prominent in local politics who has served two terms in the general assembly, said:

"It really seemed to me that next year and not this was the proper time for Ohio Republicans to go on record as regards the presidency. But the situation has been permitted to get so tangled that there remains nothing for the convention but to give the indorsement this year. If we do not do this our intentions will be misconstrued, and it may result in harm to the party. I think Senator Hanna will take this view of the matter before the convention meets and that the subject will not cause any ill-feeling in the end. I do not believe Senator Hanna's opposition to such action is based upon any aspirations of his own for the presidential nomination, for I am one of those who took him at his word when he declared he was not a candidate. What his reason is for the attitude he has taken is more than I can guess."

LIKELIHOOD OF A FIGHT.

It is admitted today that there is a strong probability of a fight in the convention over this question. News from yesterday's conventions in various parts of the state confirm this. At Canton a strong resolution of indorsement for the president was passed and the state delegates were instructed to vote for such a resolution in the state convention. Marion county demanded the nomination of Roosevelt in 1904 and indorsed his administration. At Defiance a resolution of indorsement of Roosevelt was introduced but was withdrawn for fear it might offend Senator Hanna. Later the state delegates were instructed to support a Roosevelt indorsement in the convention. The Pickaway county Republicans voted down a Roosevelt indorsement. Other counties took favorable action on the president, some of them going no further than commending his administration.

It is certain that a resolution will be offered at Columbus committing the Republicans of Ohio to Roosevelt, and if there is any attempt made by the Hanna people to suppress it or prevent it from being reported by the platform committee it will be called up from the floor. Consequently there seems to be no way in which the issue can be dodged and the convention will be forced to either give its indorsement or refuse it. With the question was first brought forward a few weeks ago, it seemed to be a tempest in a teapot, but now with Senator Hanna and Senator Foraker and their forces arrayed against each other it has assumed a more important aspect.

Whatever action may be taken by the convention, the fact remains undisputed by all who are at all familiar with conditions in the state that Ohio is strong for Roosevelt and will have no other candidate. This fact is being more firmly impressed upon presidential possibilities within and without the state, as the discussion proceeds. Important action that will be taken by the Ohio convention this year will be the adoption of a plank condemning the disfranchisement of the negro in the south and calling for immediate reform. It will also urge that the representation in congress from the states where the disfranchising acts have been passed shall be in proportion to the number of voters, and not be based upon the population.

MADE BRAVE FIGHT.

Little Band of Bulgarian Revolutionists at Last Overcome by Turks.

SALONICA, May 24.—The revolutionary band of 19 men, headed by the Macedonian leader Sveikoff, against which the Turkish troops were fighting all day Thursday near the Bulgarian village of Mogil, six miles north of Monastir, was finally surrounded and destroyed. The fight was a prolonged one and fourteen of his men and six villagers were killed. The Turkish loss was trifling. After the fighting the Bashi-Bazouks pillaged and burned 18 houses in Mogil.

Terror prevails in Monastir, and the consuls propose to ask for foreign guards. Another 16 battalions of Turkish troops are coming from Asia Minor to complete the occupation of the village.

NEGRO USED RAZOR.

Man and Woman Badly Cut, and a Number of Arrests Were Made.

During a fight between a crowd of colored men and women at Thirty-third street and Spruce alley yesterday morning, Arthur Stewart of Spruce alley and Hattie Broody of Thirty-third street were slashed with a razor by William Harland. Stewart was cut on the head and part of his lip was nearly severed. The woman received a gash nine inches long on the right arm.

Inspector Ferdinand Schmidt arrested Harland and James Cole and Sarah Cole of Spruce alley, who were alleged to be implicated in the fight.

Stewart and Hattie Broody were treated by City Surgeon A. E. McCandless.

Charged With Attempt to Murder.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 24.—(Special.)—Peter Santo, wanted here on a charge of felonious assault with attempt to murder, was arrested last night at West Pittsburgh by County Detective J. Lee McFate. Santo escaped from here to Youngstown a month ago, it is alleged, after attacking with a hatchet Mrs. Joseph Fatzio, because she refused to receive his attentions. The attack was made as Mrs. Fatzio was walking along George street with her husband after dark.

general. Senator William Sproul and Thomas Garvan, chief clerk of the house of representatives will receive the friends of Mr. Matthews. Both headquarters will be at the Lochiel hotel.

The Republican state committee headquarters will be located for the first time in many years at the Commonwealth hotel, where Chairman Quay has arranged for quarters and "macaroni." Philadelphia will not send any marching clubs this year. There is so much harmony that the practical ward worker doesn't care to visit Harrisburg. Active workers like a hard fight, excitement and a close finish. An unbreakable slate, agreed upon weeks in advance, does not appeal to this type of politician. They will remain at home. But the legislature will be well represented so far as this city is concerned. Nearly if not all of the senators have arranged to go. They have personal axes to grind and will waste a few days telling the rank and file of the party why it was necessary to place a new libel law on the statute book; why it was necessary to do it quickly, and why it should be impolitic, if not dangerous, for the convention to adversely criticise this action. These self-sacrificing legislators, almost without exception, have been elected delegates. They are to be compelled to defend an action which they were forced to take.

"It's doubtful if many of us will be re-elected," said one from a northwestern county, "but I propose to make the fight. Personally I am satisfied that the bill should not have passed; that it was a grave political mistake, and as everyone knows, it has not yielded the promised results. Few members understood the measure when they voted for it and only did so because they were told it was an 'organization' bill and entitled to party support. If such was the case let the organization carry the burden."

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it. Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. William G. Barkley, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Carpenters Win in Lively Contest Over Labor Day Celebration Officials.

CAPTURE THE BEST TWO

Building Trades Council Defeated and an Alleged Agreement for a Division of Plums Is Broken—Result of Election.

After a lively contest, officers to take charge of the Labor Day celebration were elected yesterday afternoon in Old City hall. Three hundred and fifty delegates, representing every class of union labor, were present.

Four or five factions were contending for supremacy when the meeting opened, but the final battle was between the Iron City Central Labor council and the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners on one side, and the Building Trades council on the other. Victory perched on the banners of the former, thereby breaking a tacit agreement between the building trades and the carpenters that each was to get one of the two most important officers—president and recording secretary. The carpenters captured both, the election resulting as follows:

President, Charles E. Winslow, carpenters and joiners; vice president, Joseph A. Keeler, Coopers' association; recording secretary, William J. Kelly, carpenters and joiners; assistant secretary, William J. Trichler, Journeymen Barbers, and treasurer, William Dodds, secretary of the United Mine Workers.

Of the 350 delegates present over 50 per cent were instructed for different candidates. The result was that five candidates were nominated for president. Three withdrew leaving the contest between A. M. Swartz and C. E. Winslow. For recording secretary, W. J. Kelly and J. A. Kane were nominated, and Al Firth and W. J. Trichler for assistant secretary.

The newly elected officers constitute the executive board. They will meet this week to appoint sub-committees and divide up the work.

Charles E. Winslow. William J. Kelly.

STICK TO THEIR SCALE.

Boilermakers Object to Proposition of Grand Officers to Modify Demands.

Little harmony existed at the special meeting of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America, held yesterday afternoon in the Building Trades council hall, No. 225 Fourth avenue. The meeting was called to listen to John McNeil, grand president, and Dominick Kane, grand secretary. It was rumored that the national officials were coming to compel the boilermakers to reduce their demands with a view of effecting a settlement. The men are on strike for 50 cents an hour for eight hours. They had been receiving 40 cents an hour and a nine-hour day.

The members of the organization claim they have the victory nearly won and to reduce their scale would indicate they were losing, and went to the meeting with a firm determination to defeat such a plan.

Mr. McNeil in his speech hinted that a change in the scale should be made. Protest after protest was hurled at him, and for a while it looked as though the national officers would have to change their intentions.

After discussing the matter for over three hours it was decided that President McNeil and Secretary Kane should confer with the contractors this morning. McNeil was asked after the meeting if he would promise the contractors that the men would return at a less demand, but he refused to say.

TWO NEW CHURCHES WERE DEDICATED

Cornerstone of Christ English Lutheran Church, Millvale, Was Laid.

The new Lincoln Avenue United Presbyterian church, Lincoln and Shetland avenues, East End, was dedicated yesterday. In the morning, the Rev. Robert M. Russell, D. D., pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, preached the sermon, his subject being "God's Love For You." The evening sermon was preached by Prof. John McNaugher of the Allegheny Theological seminary. The Rev. W. A. Phillips, pastor of the church, had charge of the services.

The handsome new building of the Methodist Episcopal congregation at Donora was dedicated yesterday. The pastor, the Rev. Charles R. Fulton, preached the dedicatory sermon in the morning. A fraternal meeting was held in the afternoon and in the evening a sermon was preached by the Rev. George E. Hawes of Braddock.

The corner stone of the new church building for Christ English Lutheran church, Millvale, the Rev. C. A. Booray, pastor, was laid yesterday. Among those who took part in the exercises were the Rev. C. B. King, president of the Pittsburgh synod; the Rev. S. F. Nicholas, president of the missionary board, and the Rev. Alonzo J. Turkle and the Rev. C. P. Wiles of Allegheny.

THREE HOUSES RAIDED.

Allegheny Police Make a Series of Early Sunday Morning Calls.

Allegheny police raided three houses early yesterday morning. The first raid was at 1:30 a. m. at No. 529 East Robinson street, kept by Grace King, and the proprietress, three girls and four visitors were arrested. The proprietress was fined $50 and costs, the girls each $10 and costs or 30 days, and the visitors $5 and costs each.

The next raid was at 2 o'clock at an alleged gambling house at No. 505 Ann street. Fifty men were found in the place and all were arrested. At the hearing it could not be proved that the prisoners had been gambling or that beer had been sold on the premises, and they were all discharged.

The last raid was about 3 o'clock at the house of Annie Brown, colored, Kilbuck and Itasco streets. She and three girls and five men were arrested. The proprietress, it is alleged, ran the place when it was raided two weeks ago. She was then ordered to close the place and keep it closed. She was held over for a further hearing. The girls were each fined $10 and costs, and the visitors each $5 and costs.

Dorothy Wanted to Die.

Dorthy Brooks of No. 411 Second avenue was despondent early yesterday. She attempted to sidestep the world by taking carbolic acid and was arrested. Recovering her equanimity a few hours later, she was discharged.

Used Knife in a Fight.

James Grant cut Louis Samuels while fighting in Water street Saturday night. Grant was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning and Samuels was discharged.

Rioted on a Street Car.

Conrad Conley of Allegheny was drunk and disorderly on a Spring Garden avenue car Saturday night. He paid $10 and costs yesterday morning.

SMASH-UP ON THE BELT LINE

One Man Killed and Many Others Had Narrow Escapes.

COLLISION THE CAUSE

Light Engine Crashed Into a Work Train Carrying 30 Italians, at Reflectorville, Yesterday Morning.

One man was killed, two others were severely injured and about 30 Italian laborers had narrow escapes, in a collision between engine No. 39 of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie road and engine No. 3 of the West Side Belt line, which occurred at 10 o'clock yesterday morning on the Belt line, at Reflectorville.

Th man killed was Matthew Agel, 25 years old, a laborer, living at Castle Shannon, who was killed outright, his body being cut in two.

The two men injured were James O'Neil, 28 years old, fireman on No. 3 engine, and Matthew Fleet, the engineer, on No. 3 engine. Both were painfully bruised and stunned. They were taken to their homes in Castle Shannon.

Engine No. 39 was pushing a train of 20 gravel cars. As the cars turned a curve around a high bank, engine No. 3 came booming along from the other direction and crashed into the cars.

Engineer Fleet reversed his lever and with Fireman O'Neil, jumped. By the reversal of the locomotive is probably due the fact that several of the Italian laborers on the work train were not killed. Several of them were bruised by jumping.

Agel was on the car at the head of No. 39's train and was caught before he could jump. When his remains were gathered up, one half was on the car on which he had been riding and the other half was found on the tender of the colliding engine.

REAR ADMIRAL O'NEIL COMING TO PITTSBURGH

With Another Naval Expert, He Will Inspect the Homestead Armor Plate Plant.

Rear Admiral Charles O'Neil, chief of the bureau of ordnance, and Lieut. Seymour, an expert in the navy department, will arrive in Pittsburgh today to inspect the improvements recently made in the armor plant of the Carnegie Steel Company's works at Homestead. Admiral O'Neil will spend two days here.

It is the custom of the chief of the ordnance bureau to inspect the armor plate plants once a year. When he was here last he stated that unless the output of the mills could be increased the armor for some of the big war vessels could not be completed within two years over their contract period, and urged the manufacturers to prepare to meet the great demand which the navy department was about to make. The result was that the Carnegie company spent more than $1,000,000 in improving its machinery and in enlarging its shops. Admiral O'Neil praises the business-like manner shown by the manufacturers in complying with his suggestions.

The admiral is a veteran of the old navy. He was born in England and early in the civil war entered the union navy as a volunteer, serving as a master's mate in the summer of 1861. He was on the ill-fated sloop of war Cumberland when that vessel engaged with confederate iron-clad Merrimac in Hampton Roads on March 8, 1862. When the Cumberland went down the young Englishman distinguished himself, facing a gallant fire from the Merrimac and the land batteries on the south banks of the James river. He was favorably mentioned in the dispatches and was soon promoted for his gallantry.

REUNION OF CAVALRYMEN.

Eleventh Regiment Survivors Soon to Gather at Easton.

The ninth annual reunion of the Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry will be held at Easton, Pa., on June 3 and 4. The state encampment of the G. A. R. will be held at the same time in Allentown, which is connected with Easton by a trolley line. It is intended to make the session interesting in many ways.

The Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry was one of the best regiments of horse in the civil war, and it made an enviable reputation. There are a number of members from this vicinity, and it is expected that many will attend the reunion.

LIQUOR DEALERS START CRUSADE

Allegheny County Association to Wage War Against Illicit Sellers.

WILL SECURE EVIDENCE

Protecting Men Who Pay License and Helping the Cause of Temperance — New Members Admitted.

The Allegheny County Liquor Dealers' Protective association yesterday began a vigorous campaign against vice and the illegal sale of liquor. At the regular monthly meeting, held at the headquarters, Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, resolutions were adopted indorsing the Pittsburgh administration in its policy of curbing speakeasies, and over 50 new members were recruited into the ranks of the organization. Plans are being made for a systematic crusade against every violation of the Pennsylvania license laws.

The members of the association are pledged to give information against speakeasy proprietors to a regularly appointed agent, and further every effort made by the police departments and the district attorney to bring violators of the liquor laws to justice.

John Lawler, in calling the meeting to order, said it was the purpose of the retailers to protect their business, as well as the general public, by forcing all persons to conform with the law. The speakeasies and so-called clubs, he said, were the principal violators. To curb the proprietors of unlicensed houses, in the opinion of the liquor dealers, would greatly aid the temperance societies working for total abstinence and would check the use of intoxicants among minors.

Following Mr. Lawler's address, W. J. Taney of the South Side presented a resolution supporting the policy of the Pittsburgh administration in preventing the spread of speakeasies. This was adopted unanimously, and the members devoted an hour to informal addresses. It was the opinion of the majority of the members that the disorderly houses and clubs were the principal enemies of the liquor license laws. It was stated that an agent would be employed who would visit all the retailers belonging to the association, and they would be expected to furnish data to be used in the prosecution of illegal houses. In this way the association will work hand in hand with the police bureau and sanguine members prophesied that within a few months every unlicensed house in the three cities and county would be closed.

J. E. Nolan of New York explained in detail the laws of different states. He told the association that Pennsylvanians were lucky compared with the retailers in other parts of the union, and declared that in dealing with unlicensed houses they would be fighting the most apparent evil which confronts them.

The national convention of the retail liquor dealers of the United States will be held in Pittsburgh October 13-15, and preparations for the entertainment of the delegates will be made by the Allegheny County association. Over 500 visitors are expected in the city on that occasion. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Henry.

Weather—Showers. Monday, May 25, 1903.

This Closing Week of May

Will be particularly interesting, in this store, to that very large class of people who look at the economical side of everything. Taboo the weather if it gets too sizzing. Once inside the store the parched atmosphere of the street is forgotten—delightfully cool everywhere.

The offerings today are each and all inviting—money-saving opportunities. You expect them of us—never at any time with that eagerness as at the commencement of the hot season.

Flags—You Should be Interested.

Decoration Day and Fourth of July coming so close together, the buying of a flag now is preferable. Every home, be it cottage or mansion, should have the best flag of the world thrown from its window on both these days.

The flags we sell, that is the silk and wool bunting Flags, are like very best that can be put together. We have a range of sizes, from the smallest to the largest, that are made in each material.

In Wool Bunting flags—Made of the same standard bunting that the United States uses in its official Flag—the prices begin at 95c for 2½x4-foot flag and run through a great range of sizes and prices to 24x40-foot flag for $45.

Silk Flags, mounted, begin at 3c each and 35c a dozen for a flag 2x3 inches and go to a 32x48-inch flag for $1.10 each and $12 a dozen.

Printed Muslin Flags, on sticks, 11x18 inches, 25c doz., $2.50 a gross; 8x24 inches, 15c doz., $1.50 a gross.

A great ally of yours, at present, is our rebuilding operation. Candidly, were we not in such a cramped condition the small prices that have been in active operation here throughout this month, and which will continue for some time to come, would never have been named. Circumstances alter cases. In our case very much so.

An insight into the opportunities here today—with a hint that just as good have no mention.

Specially Fine Walking Skirts, $10.

The Usual Low Price, $16.50.

Special sale today, and as there are only some 150 of the skirts, only about enough for a day's lively selling—styles being two models never on sale before.

These skirts arrived Saturday, and this is the story: A leading tailor of Fifth Ave., New York, who makes hundreds and hundreds of our finest garments, sailed for Europe last Tuesday, and before going sold us all his cloths left from this season's purchases at 50 per cent of cost, and made them up for us. A liberal reduction given the cloths, and the lower cost, at this particular season, charged for making, enables us to present to women a skirt, choice of entirely new models, for a reduced price that is rather amazing. As true as we write if these skirts had been purchased in the regular way from a maker of equal ability the price would have been $16.50.

The cloths are black and navy cheviot, Scotch mixtures and other seasonable fabrics, including fine black and navy Sicilian. Plenty of tans, grays, blues, etc., but very few of any one kind.

Styles are welt seam pleats opening out at the knee in 11-gore model, and another with pointed yoke, inch welt at edge, and side pleats facing each other at seams, opening into an inverted pleat from knee down; six buttons covered with same cloth at each pleat.

Another group of fine imported cloths from the same source, made in same effects, $15, that are all a $25 skirt should be.

Other Skirts at reduced prices, as well as Suits materially reduced. These suggestions are thrown out:

For $5, Walking Skirts in tan, gray, black and blue that have the appearance of a $10 skirt. These are finished with straps and great deal of stitching.

Walking Skirts of mohair, cheviot and men's wear cloth, all colors, $7.50 and $10, that should sell for a great deal more.

Women's $25 Suits reduced to $15.
Women's $40 and $50 Suits reduced to $18.
Women's $60 Suits reduced to $35.
Women's $100 Suits reduced to $50.

Japanese Mattings, $8 a Roll.

Buy Now and Save.

Special sale of $12 and $14 grades beginning this morning.

The saving of $4 or $6 per roll, as the case may be, is worth considering, as well as the fact that these mattings are the Japanese Cotton Warp kind, and the further fact that we import them direct.

Beginning today we will sell these Mattings at the uniform price of $8 for the full roll of 40 yards. The lot does not consist of mattings picked out purposely, but all colors are represented, and every pattern is just as pleasing as it can be.

Girls' Russian and Sailor Suits.

Manufacturers' Samples.

The fact that they are manufacturers' samples will suggest they are to be sold for greatly reduced prices, and will also suggest, that being samples, they have a little more care shown them as to workmanship. Samples are always the best.

These reduced prices are rather amazing. Nothing was ever truer than that they are worth, and sold for, the first price—that is, their counterparts.

At $2.50 each—regularly $7 to $10—sizes 6 to 14 years—fine linen and pique Russian and Sailor Dresses, finished with hand-embroidered emblems. Colors blue, white, navy and green.

At $1—regularly $1.50—sizes 4 to 12 years—Sailor Suits of percale and madras with white pique collars.

Hose Reels—Special lot made of hardwood, 100 feet capacity, regular price 65c, our special price 39c.

Lawn Mowers—to our mind the great American ball-bearing mower is without a rival. Costs a little more than some of the others, but the satisfaction is worth the extra cost. Adjustable for cutting all lengths of grass, 13-inch size, $9.50—17-inch size, $10.50—19-inch size, $12. We have a few shopworn samples of Ball Bearing Mowers, practically as good as new, that will be sold out at cost.

NEW MOVE BY THE CITIZENS TODAY

Another Attempt Is to Be Made to Elect City Clerks of Pittsburgh.

TO DODGE FEE QUESTION

Majority Faction Declares it Can Not Change System in Delinquent Tax Office This Year. Report is Expected.

The Citizens are scheduled to make another attempt to elect city clerks today to succeed E. J. Martin and W. C. Gearing. Citizens members have been quietly notified to be sure to attend today's sessions. President C. S. Crawford has told some of the members of his branch that something new will be sprung tonight.

It was stated yesterday that the Citizens might change the system of electing clerks and permit each branch to choose its own clerk, as is done in Allegheny, but prominent Citizens members said this plan was not being considered.

If the Citizens can get a quorum and a majority of select council this afternoon a motion will be made to go into joint session with common council at night, the upper branch adjourning to that time. Twenty votes will be required, but boasts are made by the Citizens that they can, produce enough this time to hold an election.

Outside of the city clerkship fight only routine business is expected to be transacted today, but several things will come up which are not on the calendar. A lively session is promised in common council tonight, for some new business that is expected to precipitate a hot discussion will be introduced.

A report on the delinquent tax collectorship from the special committee, of which D. F. Crawford is chairman, is looked for. The chairman of the committee stated at the last meeting that the matter had been referred to the city solicitor for an opinion as to the legality of changing the office from a fee to a salaried one. The committee has had the matter under consideration for two weeks.

Citizens councilmen opposed to abolishing the fee system, advance the argument that the city cannot make a change after the appropriations for the year are made, as provision must be made in the appropriations for the payment of the salaries of the delinquent tax collector and his subordinates. It is expected that this excuse will be offered by the special committee.

The advocates of the change assert that this argument is a mere subterfuge; that the collector and his assistants can be paid out of the revenues of the office or out of the general revenues of the city, and that if the Citizens councilmen wish to keep their campaign pledges they will not raise such a palpably weak excuse.

BOSTON WOMEN TACKLE HIRED GIRL PROBLEM

Will Establish Employment Bureau Where Servants May Be Engaged by the Hour.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, May 24.—Servant girls to hire by the hour is the latest idea of Boston society women with a view of solving the servant girl problem. The experiment will be tried by the Woman's Education association. A house in the Back Bay will be opened on August 1, where girls will be trained for six weeks, after which they will be hired out by the hour. A member of the advisory committee said yesterday: "We will not interfere whatever with the hours of labor established by the Servant Girls' union."

Although philanthropic in its nature and a great benefit to the employers of servants, the plan is entirely a business proposition. The house will be conducted by the Household Aid Company, composed of many influential Boston women. For the employer there will be the benefit of having the company guarantee the efficiency of the servants. As the girls will be graded according to their efficiency the wages will be settled equitably between the employer and the company, and it will be possible for a housekeeper to hire labor for an hour or two or for longer periods.

Opening of Duquesne Garden Tonight.

The opening of the summer opera season at the Duquesne Garden this evening promises to be quite an auspicuous event. The indications point to a large and enthusiastic audience. The great body of patrons of the Garden in past seasons has expressed delight over the fact that this popular place of amusement is to be continued this season, and is counted on to show its appreciation at the opening performance. The initial opera will be "The Serenade," Victor Herbert's most popular work, and the principals, headed by Dorothy Morton, are all popular in Pittsburgh.

Getting Ready for the Carnival.

Important work will be done today at the United States arsenal grounds in preparation for the United Labor carnival. Thousands of feet of lumber will be hauled into the grounds today, and the force of carpenters and other workmen will be augmented. The bandstand has been finished, but there are a number of other structures to be erected. Many of the Decoration Day visitors are expected to be at the opening next Saturday.

Machinist Strike Still On.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—P. J. Conlan, first vice president of the Machinists National union, today received a number of telegrams inquiring as to the terms of settlement of the labor troubles with the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Conlan said that the strike settlement included only the boilermakers. The machinists, he said, had not reached any agreement with the Union Pacific and the machinists strike is still on.

Heartburn and Dyspepsia can generally be cured with Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge.

LAST WEEK OF THE CROWNS.

See Them at Campbell's or Wait for St. Louis.

Only five days more and the exhibition of the "Crowns of the Rulers" of the world at Campbell's will be over. Other parties are clamoring for them, and in a very short time they must go to St. Louis for the great $30,000,000 exposition, which will contain few features more interesting.

Better see them today or tomorrow, for the folks who wait until the last hours will rush in on Thursday and Friday in such numbers that it will be difficult to get more than a glimpse of these jeweled coronets.

POLICE WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH SWIMMERS IN THE RIVERS

"The police will not interfere with swimmers in the local rivers," said Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe last night. "I have received a number of complaints about boys and men swimming within the city limits, and I want to say that it is not my intention to interfere with them. It is a shame that a city as large as Pittsburgh has no quarters for bathers. Bath houses should be erected for them, and I think it is almost a crime to arrest boys for swimming during the hot weather.

"I know there is an ordinance against men and boys swimming in the local rivers, but the officers will not disturb them," continued the superintendent. "As long as the swimmers wear tights they will be left alone. The people who have complained can go to their councilmen. Councils should place bath houses at the Ninth street bridge, at Thirty-third street, South Twenty-second street and other places.

"I tell you the water looks inviting on a hot day, especially to youngsters, and I do not intend to interfere with their pleasure when councils could make some arrangements for them. The police are not hired for that purpose."

NEW HAVEN SCHOOLBOYS DEMAND SHORTER HOURS

They Organize a Union After Form and Manner of Grown-up Laborers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 24.—New Haven's schoolboys are forming a union to secure shorter hours in school and they threaten to strike unless their demands are acceded to. They say they will leave school and sell newspapers if these demands are not granted. The name they have adopted for their organization is the "Schoolboys' union," and their motto, "While we work, we work."

They have also printed on cloth badges, "We won't do a thing to the scabs." They are not alone in the movement for the girls have shown a lively sympathy in the movement and have expressed themselves as ready to stand by in case of trouble. The youngsters think there is too much work connected with the present school system, and they intend to provide hours for play, even if they have to force the issue. They have 67 cents accumulated for a "strike fund."

COLLEGE STUDENTS ATTEND COCK FIGHT

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 24.—(Special.)—The town authorities of East Haven, a suburban town, are on the qui vive over reports that a company of Yale and Harvard students who remained in town last night after the track meet, attended a cock fight at an early hour this morning. Thirteen battles are said to have been fought.

Catholic Truth Society to Meet.

A public meeting of the Catholic Truth society will be held Wednesday evening, June 3, at 8 o'clock, in the lecture room of the new Catholic Lyceum, Washington street, opposite the Church of the Epiphany. Nearly all the members and many of their friends are expected to be present, admission being by invitation only.

HICCOUGHS CAUSED FATAL EXHAUSTION

Nathan W. Hirsch of Allegheny Dies in New Castle—Two Acounts of Deaths.

Nathan W. Hirsch, son of Herman Hirsch of No. 1232 Sheffield street, Allegheny, died yesterday in New Castle. Hirsch was 33 years old and unmarried. Hirsch was a traveling salesman for the Globe Varnish Company, of which his father is president.

The first news of his death was received yesterday in a telephone message to the Allegheny police headquarters. The message said that young Hirsch arrived in New Castle on Saturday night; that he was seized yesterday with a fit of hiccoughs, which lasted several hours, and that he died of exhaustion. The Allegheny police notified Hirsch's father, and a member of the family went to New Castle.

A dispatch to The Gazette last night said that Hirsch arrived Saturday night from Youngstown and went to bed at 10 p. m. in the apartments of Morris Heinlein, one of his friends. He complained of feeling bad from overwork. Heinlein retired at midnight quietly in order not to awaken his companion, but when he arose he was surprised to find Hirsch dead.

TO ERECT MONUMENT TO LATTIMER MINERS

WILKESBARRE, May 24.—(Special.)—The local unions of the mine workers are receiving circular letters from President Mitchell asking for subscriptions to the fund for a monument to the mine workers shot at Lattimer on September 10, 1897. It is his desire that the fund be complete by July and that the monument be dedicated on September 10, the sixth anniversary of the shooting. He compares the men who were shot with martyrs who have sacrificed their lives for the good of great causes.

TWO COSTLY WRECKS IN LOCAL RAILROAD YARDS

Throwing Wrong Switch and Malicious Meddlers Were the Causes.

Throwing the wrong switch resulted in a collision of two engines on the tracks of the Panhandle railroad at the entrance to the tunnel at Seventh avenue and Fountain street last night at 8 o'clock that caused a blockading of the tracks and compelled trains to cross over the Ohio connecting bridge and run in and out of the Union station over the Fort Wayne railroad.

While engines No. 702 and No. 818 were steaming through the yards side by side the switch was thrown into the track on which No. 818 was running. The two engines collided, the wheels locking together and the running gears being torn away. The engineers and firemen were shaken up some, but were not injured.

Engine No. 818 was attached to a sleeping car in which there were several passengers. They were not hurt. The wrecking crews had the engines off the tracks at midnight.

A peculiar accident occurred early yesterday morning. Two engines were standing in the Pennsylvania railroad yards near Twenty-ninth street, headed west. It is declared that some person maliciously opened the throttles of both engines and they started toward the Union station.

When they had gained a speed of about 40 miles an hour the first engine struck the rear end of the freight train which was going toward Allegheny over the Ft. Wayne tracks. No sooner had the first runaway engine collided than the second engine crashed into the first, sending the latter through the caboose and three cars of the freight train.

Both engines were badly damaged, and the caboose and three cars were strewn over four tracks, blocking traffic for several hours.

QUAY TO SPEND THE DAY HERE

Senator Will See Friends and Then Go to Harrisburg.

SLATE TO GO THROUGH

Will Be No Trouble in the State Convention—Speaker Walton Will Preside—Many State Jobs Are to Be Distributed.

Senator M. S. Quay is to spend the day in Pittsburgh and leave for Harrisburg this evening. He may go on the same train carrying the Allegheny county delegation.

Friends of Quay say that he has not given up hope of securing party peace in the county this fall. It is possible that today he will endeavor to sow some harmony seeds where he thinks they will do the most good. Thomas S. Bigelow said the other day that he expects to see Quay.

The senator is not expecting any trouble in the state convention. The slate will be put through and the convention will no doubt indorse the renomination of President Theodore Roosevelt. In fact, the resolution adopted by the Beaver Republicans will be passed in an extended form. Speaker Henry F. Walton of the house of representatives is supposed to be the man selected for presiding officer of the convention. Senator Boies Penrose will be elected state chairman. The Allegheny delegation will make no attempt to prevent the state nominees from accepting indorsements by the Citizens.

Immediately after the Republican state convention Gov. Pennypacker will announce about 50 appointments of various kinds. There are 14 deputy factory inspectors to be named, and there are over 600 applicants. For the places in the department of agriculture there are 750 men willing to go on the payroll. The aspirants for state highway commissioner, chief of the department of fisheries, state architect and jobs in the internal affairs department are numerous.

Allegheny county will get two of the new deputy factory inspectors. David Weaver and A. B. Shaffer will probably be appointed. In the dairy and food bureau there are a number of changes and switches expected. There is considerable doubt about the retention of E. D. Milner, G. H. Wilcox and F. M. Powell in the Pittsburgh district. George M. Pelton of Warren county is to be made a poor food agent. He gets the place held by George F. Yates of Warren, who has resigned. The state will be divided into three districts, and there will be a general agent in charge of each. Pittsburgh will be the headquarters of the western district.

CITIZENS WANT OFFICE VACATED

Have No Hopes of Making Wm. Shore County Oil Inspector.

STILL ON CITY PAYROLL

Administration Expects Court to Decide Both Appointments Were Illegal and to Leave Office Vacant.

That the office will be vacated and the county left without an oil inspector until the next legislature meets is what the Citizens' managers, supporting the claims of William Shore, Jr., against John Bradley expect. The Citizens' leaders have no hopes of getting the job for Shore, although they maintain they will succeed in ousting Bradley. If their expectations are realized the office will be vacant for two years, until new legislation is enacted.

The quo warranto proceedings brought by Shore are to test the right of Bradley to hold the office under the appointment of the county court. The opinion of the city's legal advisers is that Mayor Hays has no right to appoint a man who acts for the entire county, as the act, giving the right of appointment to the mayor when the population of the city was 300,000 or more, was intended to apply only to the city of Philadelphia, which embraces an entire county. On the other hand, it is contended that Bradley is without right to hold it because he was appointed by the court after the city had passed the 300,000 mark.

According to a lawyer who is involved in the case if the Citizens succeed in forcing Bradley out of a $10,000 job they will be satisfied and Shore will be given his former position as assistant city engineer at $1,800 a year. If the Citizens had strong hopes of getting Bradley's place for one of their own number, Shore would not have been appointed, but the plum would have been reserved for one of the leaders.

Bradley's friends are confident that Shore's petition will be refused and that the court will decide that Bradley's appointment was made in a legal manner in view of the fact that at the time Bradley was appointed the office of mayor was not in existence.

It is claimed that Shore is still on the payroll as assistant engineer, although he is giving his time to prosecute the case against Bradley. Controller Larkin said Saturday he would make an inquiry to ascertain if Shore was still on the payroll of the public works department and if he is doing any work. Shore's warrant for April was issued by the controller and the payroll for May will be sent to the controller in a few days.

YOUR NEXT SUMMER GOWN.

Buy the Goods at Campbell's This Week.

Twenty thousand yards is a lot of cloth—enough to make a good many summer gowns, enough to keep a hundred dressmakers busy many a day.

But when fifteen thousand yards are fresh made, seasonable and thoroughly desirable 20c lawns, with white stripe and the color note adroitly introduced at 12½c a yard—

And when 5,000 yards are white Oxford brilliantes with mercerized stripes and dainty figures, with black polka dots so introduced as to impart a dainty effect—35c wash fabrics going at 19c a yard—

Then the women who need new summer shirtwaists, swell summer shirtwaist suits, gowns for garden parties, etc., will make quick work of the selling.

At Campbell's this week, 20,000 yards of just such wash goods are available.

As we commented some time ago upon the fact that Allegheny city has had the reputation of being a refuge for criminals, it is but fair to note that the police department of that city is making efforts to relieve the city of that evil distinction. A number of the old lairs of the gangs have been cleaned out and for the present Allegheny city is no longer a safe headquarters for criminal enterprise. If the police of the two cities co-operate sincerely they can break up the gangs who have been making the Pittsburgh district their hunting ground.

It can hardly be in these times, when labor is so intolerant of restraint or dictation, that threats of discharge were responsible for the small attendance at the meetings at Greensburg and Irwin on Saturday at which the president of the United Mine Workers of America, a man respected by both labor and capital, was advertised to make addresses. If, as is stated, there are 25,000 unorganized miners in the Irwin field and 5,000 employed in the immediate vicinity of Greensburg, and scarcely more than 50 persons attended each meeting, it must be that there are no pressing grievances to be redressed among them. John Mitchell is a man to whom the miners would naturally turn in trouble, and if they do not turn to him it probably is because they have no troubles worth bothering about.

Millions of dollars have been added by the rains of the past few days to the value of the crops, and thereby to the wealth of the country. Before the rains fell the ground was parched and vegetation was drying up and withering. The condition was becoming serious. Considerable damage had been done and another week of the same sort of weather might have meant ruin in the sections where no rain had fallen. The situation is now entirely changed and the combined warmth and moisture are having the effect of reviving and stimulating the revival and growth of fruits, cereals and forage crops. The riches that nature in her beneficent moods bestows is vast, but usually comes so naturally and easily that it is only when productiveness is threatened, as it has been, that serious thought is given to the fact that man's efforts are after all but a puny contribution to the solid foundation of human wealth and well-being.

Some idea of the growth and development of Pennsylvania can be obtained from the statement of John W. Morrison, deputy commissioner of banking, that since the annual report in November of the Pennsylvania department of banking 10 banks and 42 trust companies have been organized under the state laws. Some pride will also be felt here that the majority of them have been organized in the cities and towns of Western Pennsylvania. This, of course, takes no account of the national banks that have been organized, which would add materially to the showing of development and prosperity. There are now 400 banks and 1,200 building and loan associations under the eye of the department, twice as many as when it was first organized. These facts are set forth by the deputy commissioner to show the urgent need of more examiners, and while this need seems to be made clear, much more is made clear at the same time. Banks are not so much creators of business as an answer to the demands made by the growth of business.

If Dr. Samuel A. Matthews of the University of Chicago has, as a dispatch from that city declares, found that a solution of calcium chloride, sodium sulphate and sodium citrate injected into the veins of the patient will cure tetanus, better known as lockjaw, or check locomotor ataxia or morphine poisoning, he has made an important discovery. However, so many things have been declared successful that refused to remain so beyond the experimental stage that people will remain skeptical concerning this latest until they know more. Reputable medical men have been sure that they have found cures for tuberculosis, cancer and other diseases that usually prove fatal, and while their experiments have been such as to stimulate their enthusiasm to the point of positive declaration, the end of the chapter has not been to much increase the sum of human achievement. When the Chicago doctor gets beyond the stage of self-experiment and the treatment of rabbits we may learn more certainly whether his claims are well founded, if, indeed, recollection of the whole subject has not faded from mind without anything more being heard.

It does not seem probable that there was any intentional slight of Gen. Wheeler on the part of those in charge of the program at the reunion of confederate veterans at New Orleans, though if it be true that he was simply overlooked in the arrangement for the parade this explanation of the affair will deepen rather than heal the hurt of the old warrior. Of the persons who had charge of the parade, one says one thing and one says another, but the fact remains that no carriage called at his hotel for the general; that he was not in the parade; that he then locked himself in his room until the first train for Washington left, and departed on it. If it was the intention of anyone to attempt to humiliate Gen. Wheeler, it was because of his service and present relation to the government of his country, and we have no doubt that by none will it be resented more emphatically than by a large majority of the rank and file of the men who wore the gray with him. An incident such as this, of which he is the victim, only serves to bring it out in bolder relief that division and resentment are of the past and that the sovereign states form one common country in which north and south are terms that indicate only points of the compass.

An Absurd Offer.

The pending ordinance "authorizing the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad Company to occupy a portion of the Monongahela wharf and for such purpose vacating the portion so to be occupied," proposes to give the railroad company a city square for a nominal consideration. The ordinance presents to the company the entire square from Smithfield to Grant street and from Water street to the river, with power to fill in and grade the space for additional depot buildings. The ordinance expressly provides that this section of the river front shall be "vacated as a public landing or highway." In effect the ordinance gives the whole square to the railroad company.

As to the value of such property the public has recently been informed by the fact that the company is paying from $4 75 to $5 a square foot for lots in the neighborhood. If land in Second avenue above Try street is worth $5 a square foot, ground on the river front is certainly worth more, but at that rate the value of the tract which the ordinance conveys to the railroad company is $687,500. The tract is 500 feet long from Smithfield to Grant and has an average width of 275 feet from the south line of Water street to the harbor line, making the total area about 137,500 square feet.

The company already occupies the lower portion of this square by its passenger depot, and for this privilege pays the nominal amount of $3,000 a year. The pending ordinance provides that for an additional $1,000, making $4,000 a year in all, the company shall be given exclusive possession of the entire square. The lot would be cheap at $30,000 a year, and were it in private hands the company would consider itself lucky to get it for that rental.

As regards the other changes and improvements the company is making along its lines through the city, its demands are moderate and reasonable. The compensation stated in the Monongahela wharf ordinance is, however, so absurd that it is difficult to consider it as seriously meant. We doubt whether there is any city in the country save Pittsburgh which would even be approached with such a proposition. In New York or Baltimore the company would expect as a matter of course to pay for what it gets, and the fact that the attempt can be seriously made here to have the city make a present of valuable real estate shows how Pittsburgh suffers from the lack of a proper public agency for the negotiation of the value of public property desired for private use.

France and China.

A traveler from the farther orient, a newspaperman from Hongkong, Alfred Cunningham by name, has just reached the Pacific coast of the United States, and there exploits his belief that Russia's ally, France, is pointing toward aggressions in the south of China against Chinese sovereignty similar to Russian aggressions in the north. The basis for his conclusions with regard to France is unrest and rebellion in the southern provinces and French interests and influence in that region, a combination of circumstances that is suggestive rather than conclusive. This observer of events scents harmony of purpose of the two powers, but as yet can only reason from known conditions to possible effects. There has been no move of the French to invite the attention of other powers that have interests in China, and the warning of Mr. Cunningham cannot be taken with much seriousness until some tangible move is made. His opinion that "Russia will never abandon Manchuria" does not prove his conclusion that France is likely to send troops into the province of Kwangsi to remain permanently. If, however, disorders become so great that the Chinese authorities cannot quell them, France may appear as a benefactor of China and of the world in undertaking the task to which the de jure government is unequal. What the benefaction may lead to is another matter, but it will be better that order be restored by France than that anarchy prevail.

The United States is on a friendly footing with both Russia and France, and it would be supreme folly to oppose either in any course manifestly directed to the achievement of beneficial results. The course of the United States in China has been to further all legitimate efforts of other powers, or at least not to needlessly oppose them. It is not animated by any narrow or jealous spirit, and believes that its own best interests are served where the interests of other powers and China are best served. Its effort has been to keep the doors to China open to all, and its state department has been eminently successful in this, largely because American disinterestedness is apparent and proven. The goal before the United States has not been exclusive advantage, but the general good. We cannot say as much for other powers, but the leadership of the United States along this line has kept them closer to the same course than they would have kept without such leadership. The example, influence, insistence and persistence of the United States has been a powerful check on those disposed to indulge in the game of grab, and we have no doubt it will continue to be, partly because of their distrust of each other and confidence in our integrity. Therefore, what the Hongkong editor says concerning French intentions in connection with Russia designs and determination need cause no alarm. When France makes a forward move it will be time enough to ask the meaning of it.

Buckeye Botherations.

Senator Hanna as the opponent of the indorsement of Roosevelt for the Republican nomination for president in 1904 by this year's Republican state convention was given two hard blows on Saturday. Senator Hanna, as the champion of Myron T. Herrick for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio, was given much better treatment. This is somewhat impressive. The Republican conventions of Stark, Franklin and Muskingum counties indorsed Herrick for governor. The Republican convention of Summit county did not indorse Herrick, but the delegates will vote for him, unless something happens to make an opening for Gen. Dick. The Summit convention "predicted" Roosevelt's nomination and election next year; the Stark county convention instructed the delegates to the state convention that they shall not merely vote for a state convention indorsement of Roosevelt, but that they shall demand it. This is the voice of the home of the late President McKinley. Thus it appears that Senator Hanna is not to have his way in the state convention with regard to a Roosevelt indorsement without a fight. This is a good sign in Ohio, whatever a similar condition might be in another state. It indicates that the Republicans are wide awake and all stirred up, and, when they are, it augurs well for Republican tickets, regardless of how it may affect the fortunes of individual Republicans.

Nevertheless, the quarrel over the Roosevelt indorsement is, as Gov. Nash said, all "a tempest in a teapot." It really does not matter whether there is a formal indorsement now or whether there is not, for the reason that such an indorsement does not bind anyone beyond the hour of adjournment of the convention. The resolution that will have binding force cannot be passed until after the delegates to next year's convention are elected and meet; what this year's convention does cannot control the action of its successor. Therefore the whole fierce struggle is no more than the folly of grown up children. Those leaders who oppose indorsement by this year's convention profess to be heartily for Roosevelt, and most of them are as sincere as those leaders who are making the loudest clamor for indorsement. They are for him on both sides because the people want him and because they want to stand well with the people. If popular sentiment should change they will trim their sails to catch the breeze. So why should they quarrel now, except for the love of it and dislike of each other? The Stark county convention's action probably comes from nearer the hearts of the people of Ohio than anything the people outside of Ohio have heretofore heard from that state, and it will be accepted as the record of Ohio sentiment no matter whether Hanna wins or Foraker snatches a victory.

Old Soldiers Organize.

The organization of old soldiers to assert their political rights springs into life because of withdrawal from and denial to the veterans of privileges that have been granted to them in statutes of the commonwealth. Doubtless the league will be influential in city and county affairs. The old guard dies, but never surrenders. The grim reaper may gather them in one at a time or by squads or platoons, but the human foe who would do them wrong finds that the spirit of the sixties is not quenched by time or age. It may be that the contention is literally true that the laws which give preference to old soldiers in the service of the public are not constitutional, but that remains to be determined by the courts. But even if the courts sustain the contention that will not repeal the truth that the laws were passed in deference to the wish of the people, and that discharge of an old soldier for no purpose but to make a place for some political servitor is defiance of the popular will. Those who stand with the old soldiers are more numerous than the membership of the new Soldiers' league, no matter how large it may grow to be. They number not only the sons of soldiers and the other male relatives of soldiers, but also a large majority of those who indorse the war for the union and its results, and they all vote. The man who hits an old soldier, even if he be able to hit him with the constitution, does it to his own hurt.

An International Standard.

Public interest in the silver question is so exhausted that international action on matters of coinage ratio no longer attract general attention. A few years ago an international movement such as is now under way under the supervision of the international exchange commission would have been the subject of widespread notice, but now little is heard of it, although really important. A joint commission appointed by our government and Mexico sailed for Europe last week to concert measures to steady the relations between gold and silver. The movement was initiated by Mexico, which, although a silver using country, is arranging to adopt a gold standard. Its proposals were favorably received by President Roosevelt, and the necessary legislation was enacted by congress without party controversy. The object of the international negotiation which the joint commission will carry on is to secure the adoption of the gold standard by silver using countries, not with the idea of discarding silver, but fixing its monetary value in relation to gold, so that contracts made in either money shall have equal value and stability. It is known that England, Germany, France and Russia regard the plan with favor, and there is ground for expectation that some international agreement will be devised.

The Columbus correspondent who declares that the controversy as to whether the Ohio convention will indorse President Roosevelt "has narrowed down to a fight between Hanna and Foraker" is mistaken. That was the starting point of the controversy and the question now is whether it can be fought to a finish along those lines of division. That is what Senator Hanna is concerned about.

Forty thousand workmen in Chicago are doing so well at their work that they threaten to join the army of the unemployed. Doubtless a large proportion of them belonged to that army only a few short years ago and were hustling to get out of it at almost any price. Some people are never satisfied with things as they are.

The president is a better American, he tells us, for his contact with the American people. Contact with Americans, it must be admitted, is a liberal education. The world in general is much improved by American example and influence.

An aged lady of Binghamton has bequeathed $5,000 to a Pittsburgh girl who raised a railroad car window for her. This ought to make Pittsburgh girls who want to be heiresses attentive to old ladies who want fresh air.

Although the Western Union wires have come down along the line the Pennsylvania railroad has not arranged with Marconi to do a wireless business.

Of course, there are always lambs to be sheared, but it looks as if some pretty tough old Wall street mutton is giving up fleece these days.

The Republican state convention is only a few days off, but even the candidates for nomination do not seem to be excited about it.

Trouble comes to most people with little effort on their part, but some railroad managers nevertheless go hunting it with an ax.

We hope the controversy as to the respective merits of the American and German navies will never reach the supreme test.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN JONES.

From the New York Tribune.

Benjamin F. Jones, whose death in Pittsburgh we have hitherto chronicled, had been for some years retired from politics, but when in the prime of life he exercised great influence and gave great abilities unsparingly to the service of the Republican party. His faithful and public-spirited work as chairman of the national committee in 1884 has always been gratefully remembered by all who were associated in the campaign. That campaign, though unsuccessful, was conducted with industry and intelligence. Mr. Jones was a convinced believer in and an able advocate of the protective policy which has put our manufactures in their present fortunate position. One of the early leaders in our iron and steel development, he lived to see our mills competing successfully in all markets of the world with those of England, which for years he was told ought to be permitted to come in and kill off our exotic industry, which would never supply our wants.

From the California (Pa.) Sentinel.

While Mr. Benjamin F. Jones has been all his life, practically, an employer of labor, no Pittsburgh manufacturer stood higher in the esteem of workingmen, for he had brought to consideration of the relation between employer and employed a wealth of experience, a soundness of judgment and a broadness of view that few men possess. Mr. Jones was a Republican of high standing in the Keystone state, and was possessed with a vast fund of information on economic subjects, to which he was particularly interested. This is attested by his famous article on "Protection" in the North American Review, and as a forceful and convincing orator the reader has but to recall his address in calling the national Republican convention to order in 1888 as chairman.

From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Benjamin Franklin Jones died at Pittsburgh last Wednesday in his 80th year. He had been, until a very few years ago, president of the immense Jones & Laughlins Steel Company, the greatest rival of the United States Steel Company. Failing health alone compelled him to retire, but he never for one moment lost his interest in the great concern, nor in Pittsburgh, nor in Pennsylvania, nor in the United States. The Pittsburgh papers devote many columns to his life, his works and his death, and to the tributes paid his memory there is not one voice raised in dissent, but the entire expression of sorrow is spontaneous and manifestly sincere.

He was a patriotic citizen, and it is that character of citizenship which makes up great cities, states and countries. According to the press of Pittsburgh, he labored in season and out of season for the advancement and the well being of his home city, carrying its standard at the front, laboring for its intellectual, its material and its moral prosperity, contributing of his time and of his great wealth to charity and to charities, encouraging the young, aiding the needy and believing in Pittsburgh at all times and under all circumstances. Pittsburgh has suffered a grievous loss in the death of a man of that make-up. There are citizens like him in other cities, but there are also citizens unlike him, and the fewer of them and the more of the other sort the better it is for any community.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Perched upon a bust of Pallas, just above my chamber door—
Perched and sat, and nothing more.
—Edgar Allan Poe.

Were the fine gifted, yet ill-starred author of "The Raven," living today his heart might be made glad, his hunger allayed, and his home lighted with cheerfulness.

His life story is a sad one—so sad that it makes one sad to read it. His home life, too, was most sad and sorry, even unto misery, for did not his sickly wife suffer for the comforts of life, if not for the very necessities? And was he not the subject of scandal, and his name a sweet morsel under gossiping tongues?

Is it any wonder there came into his heart those gruesome lines:

"Take thy beak from out my heart, and take thy form from off my door!
Quoth the Raven, 'nevermore.'"

That unkindly word "nevermore," rang ever in his ears, and the dark wings of the raven ever shadowed his way, even when, as between hope and fear, he cried:

"And my soul from out that shadow that lies floating on the floor
Shall be lifted—Nevermore."

* * * * *

What it cost Poe to write "The Raven"—cost in mental strain and stress, in heart pains, in tears and sadness—may never be known, for, as yet, we have no standard by which to make correct estimates, no michrometer sufficiently delicate and sensitive to measure his feelings, nor scale of human life upon which to figure the values of his emotions, his impulses, his motives.

But, cost what it may, he was glad to sell it for $10.

Today that same manuscript, could it be found, would readily bring as many thousand, even though faded and mutilated until no more than a few words could be made out.

Only the other day three bits of scorched, stained and torn manuscript sold for $775, while that of "The Bells" was sold to George H. Rigby for $2,100 cash.

What a fortune this would have been to the downcast, and almost outcast poet.

What of happiness and good cheer it might have brought to his dreary home; or what of encouragement and peace it might have brought to his weary heart, who can tell?

"Nevermore," croaks the foul bird whose black wings spread dark shadows across the ways of life.

It was a friend—a strong and helpful friend—of which he stood most in need, and not money, for gold seemed to be his bane.

* * * * *

There are misers and misers. Some hide and hoard money, some collect books only to lock them out of reach and out of sight, and some seek high and low for manuscripts of poems and books for which they may have a particular liking.

William Nelson of Paterson, N. J., seems to have been one of these. Poe happened to be his favorite, and only recently was it learned that he had a rare collection of Poe mementoes, among which were manuscript copies of two or three bits of verse that had never been published.

The longer of these, and, evidently, the earlier, an acrostic, spelling the name "Elizabeth Rebecca," was written in dedication of Poe's fair cousin's autograph album. It is signed "Edgar" and the handwriting, while unmistakably that of the poet, is anything but the copperplate style of his later years. The lines run thus:

ELIZABETH.

Elizabeth—it surely is most fit—
Logic and common usage so commanding
In thy own book, that first thy name be writ,
*Zeno and other sages notwithstanding;
And I have other reason for so doing,
Besides my innate love of contradiction;
Each poet—if a poet—in pursuing
The Muses thro' their bowers of Truth or Fiction
Has studied very little of his part.
Read nothing written, less—in short, a fool,
Endued with neither soul, nor sense, nor art,
Being ignorant of one important rule,
Employed in even the theory of the school—
Called—I forget the heathenish Greek name—
Called anything, it's meaning is the same;
"Always write first things uppermost in the heart."
—Edgar.

*It was a saying of this philosopher "that one's own name should never appear in one's own book."

The annotation is in Poe's handwriting.

Even more dainty, classic and fanciful is the shorter acrostic to Elizabeth, which is without heading and is signed simply with the poet's initials. These lines are as quaint and delicate in expression as any that the ill-starred genius ever penned:

Elizabeth, it is in vain, you say,
"Love not"—thou sayest it in so sweet a way.
In vain those words from thee or L. E. L.,
Zantippe's talents had enforced so well.
Ah, if that language from this heart arise,
Breathe it less gently forth—and veil thine eyes.
Endymion, recollect, when Luna tried
To cure his love—was cured of all beside—
His folly—pride and passion—or he died.
—E. A. P.

No doubt there is better poetry than this, even if Poe did think it his best, for authors are not always the better judges of their own work. Indeed, it is often the case that they regard their finest as their poorest.

Even so good a poet and critic as William Cullen Bryant is said to have deeply regretted that "Thanatopsis" had ever been printed, and yet it is the one poem that gave him fame as a poet, and the one that will outlive all else that he wrote. It was well received at first, and grew and grew in public favor, found its way into school readers and books made up of choice selections, and became popular as a recitation. Aside from this Bryant's poetry was not widely known, and to this day comparatively few, besides literary people, can recall anything from his pen save "Thanatopsis."

He was only a young man when he wrote it, and wrote much during the many years he lived afterward, but had he written not another line his name would live among those of the greater poets of the new world. For what grander, stateller, noble lines can you recall than "Thanatopsis"—a view of death? And yet there is much of grandeur and sentiment in his next most popular poem, "The Battlefield," in which occur these oft repeated lines:

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again—
The eternal years of God are hers;
But Error, wounded, writhes with pain,
And dies among his worshippers."

Whatsoever causes us to think, or halts us as we canter along life's way, or gives us a glimpse of the land and life beyond, is that which we like best, and is best for us. This we do not often find in sermons, meditations, or set pieces, but rather in things written upon impulse—from the heart out, as it were, and not after long premeditation and with great effort.

Almost without exception men will stop to read anything relating to the problem of life, in the hope, seemingly, of finding something that will aid in its solution, even though they well know that death is the only key to it.

The common problem, yours, mine, every one's, Is—not to fancy what were fair in life,
Provided it could be—but, finding first
What may be, then how to make it fair
Up to our means; a very different thing.
—R. Browning.

This serves as a text for a delightful sermon by a faithful preacher known only to the world as "C," and her pulpit is the literary supplement to the New York Saturday Evening Post. You will usually find it on the fourth page, first column. The writer is a woman—at least that is the general supposition. But don't ask why or wherefore this supposition. A woman, you know, is a woman, and she is most sure to make herself known through her womanly ways, no matter how clever her disguise. Here follows a bit from her sermon:

"How easy it is to dream our dreams by day and night of what would make life beautiful and blessed! Often on soft summer evenings city folk, seeking the touch of the sea breeze or wandering anywhere out of the heated streets, will find themselves near tired men and women, in silent search of refreshment from nature's bounty. Usually a child of children are their companions; as a rule they, too, are silent. I have often wondered what were the nature of their thoughts as with steadfast eyes they, these serious-faced men and women, looked upon the shimmering water or watched the shadows under the thick-leaved trees. Mother nature's gentle hand soon puts a tenement-house child to sleep, and we comprehend why the dewy touch of the night wind closes the lids over their tired eyes."

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 24.—It was with some misgivings that the Coney Island habitue sought his favorite resort today. The man who goes regularly every Sunday to Coney throughout the summer months and who regards a plentiful quota of beer as the most important element of pleasure, is not likely to overlook any action of the authorities which may curtail his legal enjoyment. Police Commissioner Greene has been persistently active in regulating the sale of malt and spirituous liquors on Sunday, and it was understood that Coney Island in particular would be held to the chalk line today. As so often happens, the conditions were not so bad as some persons feared. There was not today that reckless dashing about of beer in tilted glasses which has been the Coney Island Sunday way for years. Rather have waiters been a little out. They have insisted that each customer should order and pay for his sandwich before quenching his thirst, and the sandwiches have all been eatable, as required by the commissioner. There was no grumbling about the enforcing of the law. It was recognized as reasonable that the "meal" demanded by the statute should be served as long as one could follow Halstaff's example of a penny worth of bread to a gallon of sack, and the sandwich to six glasses of beer is satisfactory to most old Coney's regulars. Aside from the beer regulation, the day was much like any other Sunday. The people's playground by the sad sea waves is always well patronized, regardless of weather or anything else, and this has been a big day. The keepers of refreshments stands, concert halls and other institutions for charming the dimes from the pockets of visitors are as jubilant as they ever allow themselves to be. Unless there should be some unlooked-for calamity, they will have an enormously profitable summer. For business has begun at least three weeks earlier than usual.

An Everlasting Topic.

This has been an ideal May day. It was feared that it might pour with rain all day, and although the farmers in the vicinity want rain, and even New Yorkers thought it might be pleasant to have a little moisture as a relief from the long dry spell, they were not anxious that it should spoil Sunday. The cool atmosphere has been exactly right for a proper enjoyment of Sunday, and now, if it should rain for the rest of the week, no one will complain—except, perhaps, the storekeepers and theater managers.

All in Favor of Maude Gonne.

If Maude Gonne were to come to New York just now the chances are she would get such an ovation as might threaten to turn even her head. Irish sentiment is strong in this city, and the handsome young woman who worked so hard over here for the Boer cause not long ago and who is proud of her title, "The Irish Joan of Arc," has the Irish population of this city at her feet. The fact that she is married to an aggressive an Irish patriot as she is herself only adds to the luster that envelope her. If Maj. McBride, the husband of Maude, should meet in a duel any of the several men he has challenged, he could get hundreds of seconds from New York, all of whom would be willing to fight among themselves for the honor of backing him.

Camel's Back Broken at Last.

"Don't use the word strenuous" is among a list of printed instructions to reporters on one of the big daily newspapers of this city. If ever there was an expressive word worked to death it is this offering of the president of the United States. When President Roosevelt introduced it to a speech some two years ago, it was regarded as the best rhetorical bomb hurled at the heads of the nation since Grover Cleveland gave us "innocuous desuetude." But it has been lugged in with such sickening frequency by many persons who hardly know its meaning, that editors have become nauseated, and some of them, at least, will spare their readers if they can. "Strenuous" is an excellent word with a sound Latin derivation, but it has become sadly cheapened by over use of late.

Harriman Recovering.

E. H. Harriman is steadily recovering from the operation for appendicitis performed on him a few days ago. He is at the Hoset Netherland, and from his room he can look over Central park. His great wish is to be well enough to drive through it before the week has far advanced. He will likely sail for Europe next month.

Romeo, Juliet and the Stars.

"Romeo and Juliet" by the all-star company which delighted Pittsburgh last week, will begin a week's engagement at the Knickerbocker tomorrow evening. There is a large advance sale, it is said, indicating that Shakespeare may be made to pay in New York when there is something spectacular about the production, in scenery, version or company, as is the case this time.

Which Boat Is Better?

It seems that the further the trials of the yachts go the less we all know about their respective merits. It is not settled yet whether Reliance, Constitution or Columbia would have the greater chance in the fight for the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's new Shamrock III. Experts are watching the trial races earnestly and every day there is a different story. It appears that each boat in turn has some points of excellence not reached by her competitors, until yachtsmen are almost at their wits end to know what to say about them. It might be a good thing to make a composite yacht of the three, embodying the best points in each, as ingenious photographers take composite portraits of pretty chorus girls. However it may all come out it is certain that there never was sharper interest taken in a cup contest than is expressed over that expected to occur this year.

Devery and the Mayoralty.

W. S. Devery stood sunning himself at the "pump" this morning receiving the homage of his followers. You cannot make a Fifth district man believe that "Big Bill" will not give all the candidates a hard run for the honor. Some of his henchmen say he will be elected, but Devery will not commit himself on the subject. To a straight question today he only bunched his broad shoulders in what he meant for a Frenchified shrug, as he good humoredly growled "G'wan."

Women Have Hand in Strike.

The Italian quarter in the neighborhood of Mulberry bend was the scene of an impromptu mass meeting this afternoon. Many of the subway laborers who have stopped work in trying to enforce their demand for higher wages and fewer hours, live about the bend, and the strike is discussed in all its bearings more or less every day. Today, when everyone, including their wives, had more leisure, the situation was turned over and over, with the women taking their full part. The police keep a sharp eye on the proceedings, but there was no more disorder than there is likely to be any Sunday where a few thousand of idle men are putting in the day.

Some Coming Citizens

The annual flight to Europe has now fairly begun, with the presidio of a full passenger list throughout the season. This means that perhaps 100,000 persons will go abroad for a brief or protracted stay. How much will they spend? With some whose purses are long, paying $1,000 merely for stateroom accommodations, be it an extravagant estimate that the average expenditure will be at least $1,000? One hundred million dollars! It is an enormous amount to pay for a pleasure trip.

What is Europe giving us in return? Among other things, a bunch of 6,000 immigrants who arrived at Ellis Island yesterday. Perhaps not in this newly arrived 6,000 are we to have the raw material out of which that fetching product, the American workman, is evolved, who makes possible Mr. Carnegie's boast in London of our industrial leadership of the world. They represent an improved quality of immigration from whom good citizens will come and from whose children we shall get inventors and senators and perhaps a steel trust president, another Rockefeller, country chore boy.—New York Evening World.

The immigration statistics for April are at hand and confirm the belief that a new high water mark will be set by the fiscal year ending June 30. Last month the arrivals numbered 128,200, 50,000 more than for the same month last year. It will not be surprising to see the total for the year approach 1,000,000.

Within the last 20 years or so the character of the immigration has totally changed and the arrivals of late are largely of a class that has been found peculiarly difficult to assimilate. Most of them, or their children, will in time become desirable, law-abiding citizens, but this steadily rising tide of aliens is certain to cause misgivings.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The very worst that can be said of the current flood of immigration is not what may be urged against its origin, though in some cases that may be unpromising enough. It is the fact that it is not going where an emigration ought to go—to the land and to the sections which are being built up or to be built up. It is going instead to the states which are already becoming crowded, and particularly to the great cities and to mining and industrial sections in Pennsylvania and other states where a congested laboring population is already making trouble. Seventy per cent of last year's immigrants intended to settle in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. This state alone got 200,000 of the 700,000.—New York Mail and Express.

The immigration officials are evidently doing much better work than ever before in excluding undesirable immigrants, who have made it impossible to reach the United States through Canada. In the month of April 450 emigrants were denied admission on the Canadian border. Of that number 256 were afflicted with trachoma and 126 others were likely to become public charges. The trouble with emigrants rejected on the Canadian border is that unless they are sent back to their homes by our government, paying their fares from some American port, they remain in Canada and drift across at some other point.—Philadelphia Press.

Almost every nation in the world is sending an increasing number of immigrants to the United States. Last month the newcomers numbered 128,200, being 50,000 more than for April of 1902. The total for the year may reach 1,000,000, or half the population of Chicago, the second largest city in the country.

Is so great an influx of foreigners natural or desirable? Many in a condition to know say that immigration is promoted largely by mine owners and railroad managers, who wish to be kept supplied with cheap labor, and who do not care particularly whence it comes or whether it will be desirable material out of which to make American citizens, or whether its presence may not contribute to social or industrial disorder.—Chicago Tribune.

Present indications are that foreign immigration to the United States during the current fiscal year will exceed all previous records. The fiscal year will end next June 30, and during the 10 months up to April 30 the numbers of immigrants was 620,130, against 788,992 in any previous year. An unpleasant feature of the present immigration is that the countries whose people we least desire are furnishing the most immigrants.—Indianapolis Journal.

One vessel arriving from Hamburg this week brought 2,983 passengers, mostly immigrants. During the month the immigrants arriving at the various ports of the United States numbered 126,286. The 100 passengers on the Mayflower never dreamed that they were the advance guard of so great a host, or that ocean navigation had such possibilities.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

United States immigration inspectors in the month of April turned back 450 European immigrants who were trying to effect an entrance to this country in defiance of law. Of that number 256 were afflicted with trachoma and 126 others were likely to become public charges. The most unfit and undesirable emigrants are the more likely to elude inspection at American ports and to try to get in through Canada. It is probable that many of those rejected at the principal points on the border manage to slip across the line later on.—Buffalo Commercial.

SMALL SHOTS AT PITTSBURGH

We of Oil City should never forget to be thankful that we were not doomed to live in Pittsburgh.—Oil City Blizzard.

Owing to the Salus-Grady libel law we feel that it were indiscreet to express our unstrung opinion of the man in charge of the Pittsburgh weather bureau.—New Castle Herald.

Reports from Pittsburgh indicate that the manufacturers of that city are preparing to be well represented in the Pennsylvania display at the St. Louis exposition. Brandon should not lag in this respect. The manufacturing interests of this city are considerable and they ought to have proper representation in the great fair.—Scranton Truth.

The Pittsburgh inventors who have a shaving machine that persists in cutting off the fingers of the operators need not expect a fortune until improvements are made. Better a scarred face than a head without digits.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Evidently Need the Money.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal explains the advance in the price of meat by an incident that recently occurred in a hotel.

"See here," said an indignant guest to the proprietor, "your waiter charged me 25 cents for a tomato. Is that right?"

"No, it isn't right," replied mine host smilingly, "but that's what we charge."

IT IS TO SMILE.

"Well," said the New Yorker, taunt ingly, "you don't see any grass growing in our streets."

"That's so," replied the Philadelphian, "clever scheme of yours."

"What's that?"

"To keep tearing your streets up so the grass can't grow."—Philadelphia Press.

"The cranks who object to blazing make me weary," remarked the Jayville philosopher. "One would think to hear them talk that a

SHERIFF GUARDS A NEGRO SUSPECT

Doubt of His Guilt Stays Avenging Hands of Hoosier Farmers.

SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

After Cowering All Night in His Cell, Terror Leaves Him With Coming of Dawn — Another Attempt On Two Little Girls.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LAWRENCEBURG, IND., May 24.—A sleepless night was passed by Sheriff John Axby and the deputies guarding the heavily barricaded county jail against an attempt to lynch Louis Everson, known as "Black Ponto," held on suspicion of being the murderer of Rosa Kaiser and the assailant of her aged father, Martin Kaiser.

All night the streets of this city were reamed by men. Most of these were from the country surrounding Manchester Station and many were drinking heavily. Threats against the life of the negro prisoner were freely made, but no overt acts were committed. It is the general opinion, however, that they were only deterred by the uncertainty regarding Everson's guilt, and that as soon as the crime is fastened beyond the shadow of a doubt upon him, a desperate effort will be made to take the negro from the jail and hang or burn him at the stake.

"Black Ponto" passed a night of terror in his cell, but appeared quite jovial and unconcerned this morning. He admits his presence in and near Manchester station on the night of the murder, but still adheres to his denial of complicity in the dreadful affair. He passed through Manchester about 6 o'clock and begged some bread and meat from a lady at a farm house just out of town and said:

"I did not ask about any man about the house and I did not carry any club or coat or kill a snake down by the creek."

About 5:30 this afternoon Marshal Cruss received from Welsburg, Ind., a telegram that an unknown negro had this morning attacked the two little daughters of George Smith, residing near that place. The little girls state that the negro approached the house and asked for food and water in a threatening manner. They became frightened and attempted to escape, whereupon the negro, who wore a false beard, advanced upon them and brandished a heavy club. At that moment several farmers were seen advancing across the field and at sight of them the man fled precipitately. Officers and hounds were ordered from this city to trail the would-be assailant.

Sheriff Axby returned to this city about 8 o'clock tonight, bearing the intelligence that the negro had escaped on a freight train, which he boarded at Harmon Station, two miles from Welsburg. Word has been sent along the line of the Big Four railroad for a watch to be maintained in the hope of capturing the miscreant tonight.

CHANGE IN OPERATION.

Bijou Theater to Be Controlled By Joint Stock Corporation.

The Bijou theater is soon to be operated by a joint stock corporation instead of by a partnership of individuals. On Wednesday, June 17, an application for a charter will be made to Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker by Richard M. Gulick, P. J. McNulty, George M. McNulty, Clifford R. Wilson, Edward T. McNulty and George A. Kim. The company will be called the Bijou Theater Company "for the establishing and maintaining of a theater and opera house."

P. J. McNulty said last night that the proposed incorporation did not mean that a new theater was to be built, but that the old Bijou theater would be run by a corporate body. The way to forming a company was cleared by the recent purchase of Laura Bigger's life interest in 60 per cent of the Bijou theater building.

HAMPTON MEMORIAL.

Battery's Annual Services in East Park Memorial Day.

The Hampton Battery Veteran association will hold annual services in honor of its deceased comrades at Hampton Battery Monument, in East park, Allegheny, on Memorial Day, at 9 o'clock a. m. Comrades of the civil war and friends of the association will assemble at the Monument (if more convenient than to assemble in this city), and all other comrades, including members of Capt. A. E. Hunt Camp, S. M. of S. W., will assemble at Old City hall, Market street, Pittsburgh, at 8 o'clock.

The escort, Hampton Battery B, N. G. P., in uniform, will also assemble at Old City hall, and move direct to the monument with the comrades mentioned above, where appropriate services will be held. The Rev. George M. Ryall of Saltsburg, Pa., will deliver the address.

ELECTRIC POWER IN BAYVIEW MILLS

MILWAUKEE, May 24.—(Special.)—Steam power will be a thing of the past after tomorrow at the Bayview rolling mills. Electricity has taken its place. During the last three months the Illinois Steel Company has been installing motors and other electrical appliances which will make the Bayview plant thoroughly modern. The new improvements will not lessen the amount of labor that is done by hand, but will make such work easier for the operators. The cost of the improvements is about $100,000.

CRIMINAL SHOOTS HIMSELF IN CHURCH

MARION, IND., May 24.—(Special.)—In order to escape from an angry mob of citizens who sought to lynch him for assaulting his wife, Stephen Isenhour shot himself through the head in a church, where he had found refuge. When taken to a hospital he asked if his wife would recover and said he was pleased, although he said he had intended to kill her because she was too disagreeable to live with. Isenhour may recover.

GREAT AS AN OCEAN GREYHOUND.

Miss the Crowns and You Miss the Chance of a Life Time.

If the "Deutschland," or the "Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse" or "Oceanic" were to sail up the great river system of America at the flood stage as far as Pittsburgh and anchor opposite the Monongahela house, Smithfield street would be black with people rushing to the water front to catch a glimpse of the famous vessels. Reason enough—such chances are not to be missed.

Don't you realize that the "Crowns of the Rulers of the World," now on exhibition at Campbell's, are a sight no less interesting—a spectacle fully as significant?

Others understand it now, and thousands are seeing them daily.

This is the last week—the last chance to see them in Pittsburgh.

CHURCH DEBT WAS WIPED OUT

The Rev. Theodore N. Eaton.

At yesterday's services in the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg, the congregation wiped out the entire church debt of $12,000. Of this amount $10,000 was raised at the morning service, the balance being placed in the collection boxes in the evening. The Rev. Theodore N. Eaton, D. D., the pastor of the church, was active in securing the money.

This debt was incurred about three years ago when the increasing membership in the Sunday school of the church demanded more space. An addition to the Sunday school room was made at a cost of $12,000. The Rev. Dr. Eaton, who was formerly the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at McKeesport, became pastor of the South avenue church about seven months ago. Recently he led the movement to secure enough money to pay the debt.

There are 100 members of the South avenue church, most of whom were present at yesterday's services. In the morning addresses were made by the pastor, the Rev. T. N. Boyle, D. D., presiding elder of the Pittsburgh district, and the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Smith, editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate. In the evening the sermon was preached by Dr. Smith.

NEW SCHEDULE IN EFFECT.

Panhandle Passengers Had to Wait Because of Ignorance of the Changes.

The new schedule of the Pennsylvania railroad system went into effect yesterday. The changes in the trains caused considerable confusion to the passengers. Particularly was this true on the Panhandle railroad. With the former schedule two trains left the union station at 9:15. The first consisted exclusively of Pullman sleepers and the second ran as a section of the first and was made up of day coaches. According to the new schedule two trains run, but the first leaves the Union station at 8:15, consisting of day coaches only. The second train leaves at 9:10 and has only Pullman sleepers.

Many passengers en route over this line last night not knowing of the new schedule, arrived too late to make the day coach train at 8:15. They purchased tickets for different points with the intention of going on the 9:15 train. When at the gate they were told of their mistake. The tickets purchased for the 8:15 train could not be used on the 9:10 train, consequently the passengers had to wait until 2:15 this morning before they could leave for their destinations. The 9:15 train runs solid from New York to St. Louis. It made its first run yesterday and arrived at Pittsburgh on time.

VIENNA, May 24.—A pathetic incident occurred yesterday during a disturbance at Podsused, a station near Agram. On the arrival of the gendarmes all the rioters fled except one, who, being challenged, answered: "I am a Croat." Then, tearing his shirt open, he exclaimed: "Shoot, cowards, if you dare." BRUTAL ATTACK MADE BY NEGRO

One Victim Dying and Another Is Dangerously Wounded.

FIEND IS IDENTIFIED

"Kit" Whilow Placed in Jail for Shooting William Curry and Harry Mitchell on Garfield Hill, Morningside.

William Curry, aged 17 years, of Schenley avenue, Morningside, is dying at St. Francis' hospital with a bullet in his groin. "Kit" Whilow, a Virginia negro, is under arrest charged with the deed, which occurred in Mathilda street at an early hour yesterday morning. While young Curry's life ebbs away, his companion, Harry Mitchell, aged 20 years, of Morningside, lies at his home dangerously wounded by the same assailant.

The boys, in company with John Curry, an elder brother of the injured lad; Samuel Bristol and Frank Wise were returning to their homes in Morningside at 12:30 o'clock in the morning, walking up Mathilda street from Penn avenue. At the top of Garfield hill, at a lonely and dimly-lighted portion of the street, a negro came along carrying a revolver in his hand. The boys were on the boardwalk, while the negro kept in the middle of the street. Noticing that the stranger carried his weapon in a menacing position young Mitchell turned and asked:

"What are you doing with that gun?"

"I'm going to empty it," replied the negro.

Taking aim at the nearest youth in the party he fired instantly afterward and the missile pierced Mitchell's left hand and lodged in his left hip. John Curry, who was some distance ahead of the party, ran back and confronted the man.

"This is for you," shouted the colored man, pointing the revolver at Curry.

The latter dropped upon his knees just as the man fired and the bullet passed over his head and struck William Curry in the groin, perforating his intestines in 10 places. The negro fired two more shots and then fled into the hollow in the direction of his boarding house. John Curry started in pursuit and recognized the man as he passed under an electric light. The cries of agony from his brother then reached his ears, and he ran back to the street to notify the police.

The wounded lads were carried to the house of David Suttor and the police were called from Penn avenue. When the patrol wagon reached the house Lieut. Peter Welsh and John Curry went to a negro boarding house kept by Lemuel Johnson. The boarding house proprietor denied that he had any boarders, but learning the police were about to search the premises he said he had two boarders, but that both had reached their rooms at 2 o'clock in the evening. Whilow was found in bed and pretended to be asleep.

The two boys were placed on stretchers and placed in the patrol wagon beside the prisoner. A few hundred yards down the hill the wagon struck a ditch and overturned, throwing the occupants into the mud. After some delay the trip was resumed, but a short distance beyond, the vehicle again upset. The boys were taken out and carried to the residence of Robert Reed in Mathilda street and physicians were sent for, but none could be found at home. In the meantime the wagon was righted and started for the third time. Scarcely had it gone 10 yards when the horses plunged into a ditch and the wagon was wrecked.

The stretchers with their burdens were then taken to the office of the Park laundry in Penn avenue until the patrol wagon arrived from No. 6 station. The trip to St. Francis hospital was made without further trouble, but young Curry by this time had relapsed into unconsciousness. Mitchell was later removed to his home. He has a bullet in his hip, but it is thought that he will recover.

Inspector Robert S. Gray yesterday morning called at the police station and asked to have Whilow committed to jail. The negro is 28 years of age and came here about four months ago from Virginia. He served with a colored regiment during the Spanish war and was noted for his marksmanship. When he was being taken to jail Bristol and John Curry called at the police station and both recognized the man as their assailant.

William Curry is a son of Robert Curry and was employed in the Pennsylvania freight station at Sixteenth street. The physicians of the hospital, in probing for the bullet, found that the missile had entered the groin and had taken a peculiar upward course through his abdomen, lacerating the vital organs in several places.

EFFORT TO CHECK YANKEE ENTERPRISE

LONDON, May 25.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Singapore states that the government of the Malay states has imposed a prohibitive duty on the export of tin ore unless it is smelted within the colony. This step is designed to check an attempt to create a combine in the tin trade by the Standard Oil, the United States Steel Corporation and the American Tin Plate Company, who propose to export the ore into the United States free of duty and re-export the smelted article.

ROOSEVELT WILL BE WHOLE PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, May 25.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: At the private banquet to President Roosevelt, given at Tacoma Friday night by Senator Foster, President Roosevelt is reported to have said: "I would like to be president of the United States for another term, but this much I will say: I propose to be president this term. I would rather be all president for three and a half years than half president for seven and a half years."

SOLID OAKEN CHAIR FOR THE WELSH BARD

The leading feature of the Welsh eisteddfod services at the Pittsburgh Exposition hall on Memorial Day will be the chairing of the successful bard, a ceremony that is rarely attempted outside of the historic groves of Cambria. The chair to be used on this occasion was carved from solid oak and is a masterpiece of the cabinet makers' handiwork. It has been donated by T. D. and D. J. Evans.

The front legs are carved with the head and foot of the red dragon of Wales and the top of the back is surmounted by a carved eagle, emblematic of the national character of the gathering. In Welsh is carved the bardic motto, "The Truth Against the World."

MAX O'RELL SUCCUMBS TO PROLONGED ILLNESS

Popular French Writer and Lecturer Was Well Known in America.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, May 25.—Paul Blouet (Max O'Rell) died last night. He has been ailing for several months and never recovered entirely from the effects of an operation performed some time ago in New York.

Max O'Rell's real name was Paul Blouet. The popular lecturer and writer was born in Brittany in 1848 and educated in Paris. He fought in the Franco-Prussian war as a cavalry officer, was made prisoner at Sedan, and on his return to France was employed among the troops sent by M. Thiers to suppress the Commune in Paris.

In this service he was severely wounded and disabled and received a pension on discharge from the army. Two years later he went to England as a correspondent of French papers, but had to struggle for a livelihood. He received the French mastership at St. Paul's school in London, one of the chief English public schools, and though he was subjected to many of the troubles which a foreigner has to endure from schoolboys, he was a popular teacher for eight years, many of his pupils having kindly recollections of his presence in the school.

His experiences gave him an insight into English life and a few of the anecdotes, he utilized cleverly in his book, "John Bull and His Island," published in 1880. The success which this playful characterization of national traits obtained in England led him to follow it up with "John Bull's Womankind," "The Dear Neighbors" and "Dear Me Boys."

He traveled widely on lecture tours, visiting Australia and South Africa, besides spending seven seasons in America. "Jonathan and His Continent" and "A Frenchman in America" were the result of his observations on this side of the Atlantic. He returned to France a few years ago and was appointed to the editorial staff of the Figaro.

NEWARK, N. J., May 24.—The champions played an exhibition game with the Newarks of the Eastern league here today, winning by the score of 3 to 1.

Schumann and Veil were the opposing pitchers. The former pitched a good game against the strong National leaguers, but unfortunately for him he was unsteady at critical moments. The Eastern leaguers outbatted and outfielded the Pittsburghs, but they were lacking push when a hit was needed.

Veil pitched a steady game throughout, not a Newark player receiving a gift. The outfield of both teams had plenty to do, and made some clever running catches. The score:

AMERICAN JOCKEYS GET FAIR SHARE OF EVENTS

PARIS, May 24.—The French derby (the Prix du Jockey club) was run at Chantilly this afternoon in the presence of a fashionable gathering, including many Americans. The race resulted in a victory for M. de Fourtale's horse Ex Voto, at 20 to 1. Edmond Blanc's Quo Vadis was a close second. The favorite Vinteuil was not placed. While no American horses participated in the racing, American jockeys were well represented and secured a fair share of the day's events. McIntyre and Thompson each had one first to his credit, besides being placed in other races. Rigby Rausch and Nash Turner also secured places, Turner riding the second horse in the derby.

DETROIT WAS LUCKY.

Senators Lose Through Poor Pitching and Two Errors.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., May 24.—This afternoon's game here between Detroit and Washington was transferred from the former city, where Sunday baseball is not permitted this season. Two errors and some poor pitching on Townsend's part gave Detroit the game. The features were the splendid work of both outfields on the uneven grounds, the batting of Carr for Detroit and a catch of a liner by Townsend. Score:

NEW YORK AMERICAN OWNERS DISGUSTED WITH PERFORMANCES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 24.—The performances of the New York American league team in the west have not pleased the owners and managers of the club. Frank Farrell, secretary-treasurer of the club, feels especially aggrieved and does not hesitate to say what he thinks about it. The kicking of the players has incensed him more than anything else, not only because of the spectacle it has presented, but because it has resulted in the suspension of some of the best players at critical moments. He has sent word to Manager Griffith that unless it is stopped at once they can quit or get fired.

The owners, he declared, purpose to get something in return for the $75,000 they are paying out for salaries.

READY FOR GONG.

McClelland and Maynard Meet Tonight at Millvale.

Billy Maynard and Jack McClelland, who meet tonight at the Millvale Opera house to decide the feather weight championship of this state, await the tap of the gong to start them on their way for what at present promises to be the fastest glove contest ever brought off here. No matter who the winner will be he will know he has been in a contest.

McClelland has never trained as hard or faithful as he has for this match. Fully 250 people saw him work yesterday, and they all left fully satisfied as to his fit condition. He knows that he must beat Maynard to get the different matches his manager has in view. The main bout will start at 8:40 o'clock.

CALHOUN TO HELP THE HOMESTEAD TEAM

"Red" Calhoun, the former St. Louis National leaguer, now with the Wilmerding team, will leave for Altoona this morning to play first base for Homestead against Altoona this afternoon. Calhoun has not signed with Homestead, but is helping out Manager Risher while Thayer Torréyson, captain and first baseman, is out of the game. Homestead is in a crippled condition at present.

Crowds Will See Elks Play.

MONESSEN, PA., May 24.—(Special.)—Much interest is centered in the coming ball game here between the Monessen Elks and the Allegheny Elks Saturday, June 6. Over 1,000 admission tickets have already been sold and from the present outlook it would seem that a crowd of nearly 5,000 people will take in the contest. The Monessen Elks have also received a challenge from the Pittsburgh lodge, No. 11, and will accept. It is the intention of the locals to try to have the latter game arranged to take place in Pittsburgh at some future date satisfactory to the Pittsburgh lodge.

Wrestlers Attracting Attention.

ISAAC BUCHANAN WILL BE GIVEN A LOVING CUP

Pittsburgh Boy, Favorite of Coach Courtney, to be Honored For Ability as Coxswain.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ITHACA, N. Y., May 24.—Isaac Victor Buchanan of Pittsburgh, a sophomore in the academical department and one of the best coxswains who ever sat in a Cornell boat, is to receive a loving cup from his classmates. Little Buchanan weighs only about 80 pounds and is not more than 4 feet 4. He is one of the youngest students in the university. Nevertheless, his standing in his studies is very high.

Of the many oarsmen in the college Buchanan is the favorite of Charles Courtney, the veteran coach. In a race he is remarkably cool and it seems almost indicrous to hear the little fellow shouting orders to the giants who handle the oars. Buchanan is this year in the junior 'varsity shell.

Big Sendoff Promised Lipton.

GLASGOW, May 24.—The preparations completed promise an enthusiastic send-off for Sir Thomas Lipton's fleet, which will leave for New York next Thursday at 1 p. m. Both the Shamrocks and Sir Thomas' steam yacht Erin are now docked preparatory to their departure. A flotilla of turbine and other steamers, tugs and yachts, 70 in number, will escort the fleet down the Clyde. Many prominent men have accepted invitations to be present at the banquet which will be given to Sir Thomas Lipton by the corporation of Greenock next Tuesday. Sir Thomas expects that the yachts will make the passage under three weeks.

EXPLOSION IN A CLUB.

Three Members Badly Burned While Looking for a Gas Leak.

Gas in the cellar of the Federal club, an organization at the lower end of Federal street extension, in Allegheny, exploded last night, doing no damage to the building but painfully burning three members of the club. The three men burned are Frank Carroll and James Miller of Federal street extension and James Orr of Perrysville avenue.

All the members of the club are one in the statement that their sense of smell led them to determine that gas was leaking in the cellar, but there is some dispute about how the exact locality of the leak was ascertained. The three members burned indignantly deny that they took a lighted candle into the cellar to find the hole in the gas pipe. They say that a gas jet was burning in the cellar; they surmise that the gas that leaked had floated to the ceiling and had not yet reached the burning jet, and they believe that when the three of them descended into the cellar a current of air was set in motion that depressed the body of gas upon the light. They had hardly got down the cellar steps when there was a vivid flash, and the three men found that their hair and eyebrows were singed and their faces and hands painfully burned.

Seven Cases of Smallpox.

Seven cases of smallpox were reported yesterday. They were: Gus Batz, 28 years old, of No. 216 Steuben street; William Barr, 25 years old, No. 2848 Penn avenue; John Walker, 26 years old, colored, of No. 2702 Spring alley; Martina Pedricord, 4 months old, and Clarence Pedricord, 7 years old, of Lookout and Hern street; Lillie Direns, 2 years old, No. 1 Jacobs alley, and George M. Evans, 27 years old, of Roanoke, Va. Evans had just landed in Pittsburgh, having arrived from Roanoke over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and went to the bureau of health, where his case was found to be smallpox.

W. & J. CHALLENGED BY EAST LIBERTY

Local School Boys Want Game With Champion College Nine.

PLAYERS' AVERAGES

The East Liberty academy nine, which this year is the strongest the institution ever supported, has challenged the Washington and Jefferson college team for a game this spring. The only condition that East Liberty asks to be granted is that it be allowed to use Prof. Unger and J. Hull as a battery.

W. & J. also has one of the fastest nines ever at that college this year and thus far is well in advance of all other colleges for the championship of Western Pennsylvania. East Liberty is after the interscholastic championship and thinks it could win from W. & J. with Unger and Hull as a battery. Manager Ralph Lelly has written to W. & J. and expects a reply in a few days.

East Liberty was jubilant yesterday over its win from Raven high school. The players performed in fine fashion and now they are willing to meet any school or college team in this section. The work of McCracken at third has been of a high-class order all season. McCracken has been doing the best work of any school third baseman, both at the bat and in the field around here.

RIEBER'S GOOD AVERAGE.

Up to date East Liberty has outbatted its opponents. Right Fielder Reiber leads the list with a percentage of .567. McCracken, however, leads in the number of total bases, 25, one more than Russell. The figures:

PRICE OF WHEAT MUST BE HIGHER

Farmers Urged to Refuse Less Than One Dollar a Bushel.

EQUITY SOCIETY FORMED

It is Claimed That the Selling Figure Does Not Amply Compensate the Growers of Grain. Circular Issued.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24.—The American Society of Equity will issue a bulletin tomorrow to the farmers of the United States demanding an increase in the price of wheat, arguing that the minimum price of wheat should be $1 a bushel and urging the farmers of the United States not to sell for less than $1. The society has been organized with this city as national headquarters to maintain higher prices for farm products by co-operation of the farmers of the country, and this is the first formal demand for increase in prices as the result of the combination.

The bulletin sets out the claim that this is an era of unequaled prosperity, demand for commodities is unprecedented, labor is receiving higher wages than ever before and the demand for and consumption of wheat is greater than ever before, with a low visible supply. The bulletin then says:

"It is evident that the American farmers cannot produce more than 12 bushels per acre on an average, which at 88 cents per bushel represents $10.56 per acre to cover all the work, seed, twine, threshing, marketing, etc., an amount that scarcely equals the simplest machine that the farmer buys, yet which represents only a small fraction of the factory investment, capital and labor employed.

"Who dare say, in the face of these evidences, and considering the present higher range of values for nearly every other commodity produced in the country, that wheat at this time and for the next crop, is not equitably worth $1 per bushel on the basis of the Chicago market and that other farm crops should be on a corresponding basis?

"Farmers, keep this matter in mind, keep dollar wheat $1 at Chicago before you, and you will get it as sure as the sun rises in the east and sets in the west. Above all, however, we implore you, don't be fools. When you get the equitable price let it go. Sell on the basis of $1, and no less; but don't hold for more, or you may run up an unwieldy surplus, which must eventually compel lower prices."

TROLLEY SYNDICATE WILL PUT ON SLEEPERS

Expect to Have Them Running Between Columbus and Cincinnati by July 1.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 24.—The Appleyard syndicate will operate sleeping cars between Columbus and Cincinnati, beginning about July 1. A. B. Appleyard, president of the Interurban syndicate, has been making arrangements toward this end for the last year.

The first car is now being built in New Jersey and will arrive in Columbus in about five weeks. It will be the first sleeping car operated on an electric line in the United States. The car will be constructed so that it will have 20 seats and 20 berths, and will be more convenient than the sleepers on the steam roads.

The Appleyard syndicate is building northward and it will only be a question of time until it will be operating through cars from Cleveland to Cincinnati over its lines. The sleeping car will leave Columbus at 11 o'clock at night and arrive in Cincinnati in the morning.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24.—Traction company officials say that within a month's time it will be possible to travel from Indianapolis to Cincinnati by means of the traction service. Frank M. Fauvre, who is at the head of the Greenfield line, says that within 10 days the Greenfield cars will be running into Richmond. The traction line, which runs from Dayton to Richmond, will be completed within a month and this will connect Indianapolis with Cincinnati by way of the Cincinnati and Dayton and Toledo lines.

EMERSON PROPHET OF NINETEENTH CENTURY

Rev. Mason Discourses On 100th Anniversary of Philosopher's Birth.

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the great American poet and philosopher, which occurs next Thursday, was the subject of a sermon preached by the Rev. L. Walter Mason in the First Unitarian church, Craig street, yesterday morning. Mr. Mason spoke on Emerson as the prophet of the nineteenth century, and said in part:

Emerson was essentially a preacher, for although he gave up his pulpit, he never ceased to preach. His poetry, essays and orations were all inspired by religious impulse. He protested against a religion which was content with what some one said that once upon a time God said. He sought to make men dissatisfied with a second-hand religion.

Emerson said it was the "duty of the true teacher to show men that God is, not was; that He speaketh, not spoke," and during and act to be that "true teacher," to show his long life he did his best by every word how God is revealing Himself through the efforts of man, through nature and to every honest listening soul.

SANG THE CARMAGNOLE.

French Socialists Remember Communards Who Were Shot at Pere La Chaise.

PARIS, May 24.—The annual pilgrimage of socialists and revolutionaries to the wall in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise against which the communards were executed in 1871, took place this afternoon and passed off without any disturbance. Three thousand persons marched in the procession to the cemetery.

Some shouts of "long live anarchy" were raised and the "Carmagnole" was sung in spite of police orders forbidding it. The survivors of the commune were much applauded as they marched past the fatal wall. There were no other noteworthy incidents.

RAIN WORKED WONDERS IN BOTH THE BIG PARKS

Grass and Shrubbery Looked Fine, Having Been Suffering From Drought.

Had it not been for the rain yesterday the attendance at Highland and Schenley parks would have been a record-breaker so far as Sundays are concerned on which there are no attractions at the parks in the way of flower shows. Both Schenley and Highland were patronized well yesterday morning, considering the threatening weather, and even the gathering clouds in the afternoon did not seem to deter visitors. The storm, however, which began about 2 p. m., soon cleared the parks of sightseers.

The rain of Friday and Saturday really did wonders for the parks. In Schenley parts of the newly seeded sward on the wide sweep in front of the Phipps conservatory was suffering for moisture. The grass that was already up was faint for want of water and the more recently planted spots were bare. Within 24 hours after the copious showers the grass and the shrubbery took on another aspect entirely, for they started growing with vigor and soon were freshly green.

There will be no more flower shows at Schenley park before autumn, but the flowers which ordinarily greet the visitors at flower shows out of season will bloom at their proper time in the open air. Dahlias and Bermuda lilies have been planted out in the shrubbery patches at the turns in the roads. Their growth was retarded for the purpose. The Phipps conservatory greenhouses have been denuded of the more tender plants, and economic shrubs and trees have been put on the benches to take their places.

THOUSANDS HEARD THE TRACTION PARK MUSIC

Despite the Weather the Excellent Programs Were Well Enjoyed.

Despite several rather severe storms yesterday there was a good attendance at all the trolley parks, both afternoon and evening. There were concert bands at all four parks, along with vaudeville features.

At Kennywood the diversions were patronized by a jolly crowd after many of them stopped long enough to hear the concerts given by the Rocereto band. The steeplechase, with its big wooden steeds, seemed the center of interest. There were a great many who started with this and never left the big building that houses its station until they had tried all the other amusements under the same roof.

Calhoun park had over 2,000 of an attendance, notwithstanding the storms, in the afternoon, and the Second Brigade band, the H. J. Lindsay quartet and L. Claire McLaughlin entertained them. The euphonium solo by D. Ferrara and the cornet solo by S. Stingone were well received. Mr. McLaughlin's songs called forth applause, and the work of the quartet was pleasing.

At Oakwood Prof. Guenther's Greater Pittsburgh band held forth, and he himself played a piccolo solo. Harry Hoehle's baritone solo was applauded. With the band were little Marjorie Barrett, the child artist, and Edwin Kelly, the whistler, both of whom entertained their audiences thoroughly. The boats were started on the lake yesterday and between storms the crowds used them, although in almost every case the boat had to be bailed out as a result of the rain. The Homestead Library band pleased audiences at Southern park, and P. W. Bolin's solo on the bass horn was fine. The band had several good descriptive numbers on its list and they caused merriment, while the several renditions from well-known operas were applauded to the utmost. A number of encores were called for. The Fleising duo, two clever youngsters, and H. E. Blaney, the local singer, made up a program which, with the band, was one of the best ever had at a Pittsburgh suburban park.

The stages at Southern and Oakwood parks are about completed and the bills engaged for the opening, June 1, are strong attractions. On Decoration Day there will be free concerts, balloon ascensions and dancing.

Rockefeller Gives $50,000 to Washington, D. C., Y. M. C. A. With Condition.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Post will announce tomorrow that John D. Rockefeller has given $50,000 to the Washington Young Men's Christian association. This announcement has been made by Mr. Rockefeller through H. B. F. McFarland, president of the board of district commissioners. The gift is conditioned on the completion of a canvass for $300,000 for the association before January 1, 1904. The total amount contributed thus far is raised by the Rockefeller subscription to $210,000. In submitting the pledge John D. Rockefeller, Jr., writes: "In making this pledge my father desires to make a record of the fact that he has favorably considered the request made because of the unique relationship which the Washington Young Men's Christian association bears to the country at large, in that it is national in its scope and not, as is the case with Young Men's Christian associations in all other cities, wholly local."

BLOOMINGTON, IND., May 24.—John D. Rockefeller has offered to increase his donation to the student building fund of Indiana university from $50,000 to $50,000 on condition that a fund of $50,000 be raised from other sources before July 1. Subscriptions to the amount of $35,000 were obtained last year and the trustees, at their next meeting, will form plans to secure the required $15,000.

MI-O-NA A GUARANTEED CURE.

Folly of Treating Dyspepsia With Pepsin Tablets.

Mi-o-na is entirely different from other treatments for dyspepsia. The fact that it is sold by Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown avenues, the popular druggists, under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure dyspepsia and restore normal weight, shows that it possesses unusual merit.

Mi-o-na is not an ordinary laxative pill; it is not a digestive tablet, composed of pepsin and pancreatin; it is not a mere stimulant and tonic. Mi-o-na is a compressed food tablet that furnishes the constituents necessary to build up the system; it aids the food to assimilate, and strengthens and regulates the digestive organs, enabling the body to gain in natural, healthy plumpness.

Austin Flint, M. D., professor of physiology in the Bellevue Hospital Medical college, New York city, one of the most eminent medical men in the country, says: "I have yet to see a single case in which any of the pepsin, pancreatins or the physiologically abused combinations of pepsin and pancreatin seem to have produced any benefit, even of temporary character."

This statement from a man of Dr. Flint's standing should convice any one of the folly of trying to cure diseases of the digestive organs by the ordinary dyspepsia tablets and powders. Mi-o-na gives quick relief and makes permanent cures. The best evidence that can be offered as to its superiority and its power to cure is the fact that Schilling Bros. Co., will return your money if Mi-o-na does not help you.

PENNSY HAS MODIFIED STOCK ISSUE PLANS

Market Conditions Made Necessary the Formation of Syndicate to Underwrite Half of Recent Authorization.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Without doubt the most important news bearing upon specific properties which developed during the week was the announcement of the formation of a powerful syndicate to underwrite and insure the successful issuance of the $75,000,000 new stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The manner in which this news was received indicates more strongly than anything which has occurred in months the change which has passed over Wall street in recent months concerning capital creation. Only a short time ago each new issue of stock or bonds was hailed with delight, the stock because of the rights, the value of which was speedily lopped off the selling price, and the bonds because they would permit development and increase earnings as they increased debt. Now that is all changed and what was a bull has become a bear argument. Yet the Pennsylvania railroad in planning its great improvement is financing with stock and bonds and is providing for the far future rather than the present. When one analyzes the criticism which has been passed upon the company's modification of policy in providing for a syndicate where none was originally contemplated, it will be observed that Wall street is apparently very much disappointed because the stock issue is an assured success, whereas it might have been a partial failure.

Wall street takes a very narrow view of things at times. It is scarcely 10 years ago that as a matter of pique a United States government bond issue, since known as the "fives of 1904," and then amounting to but $50,000,000, came within an ace of failure. But for the activity of one man, John A. Stewart, the fact would have been published to the world that the United States government, of whose credit we are so proud, could not float $50,000,000 bonds in the financial center of the country. It was only when the bankers realized what injury would result by failure of the issue that they swallowed their resentment against President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle and made the deal a success. The issues are not precisely parallel, but where would the United States, boasting of its prosperity, have stood before the world had financial interests permitted an issue of $75,000,000 6 per cent stock of its premier railroad fail of subscription at 120. Men may regard it as unfortunate that the country chose to obtain so large an authorization of stock and bonds as it did, issued so much as $75,000,000 at one time, and failed to provide a syndicate to underwrite the issue at the outset. But the company has corrected this error of judgment and acknowledged the changes of condition in the market, and in the end it would probably be realized that much more which is beneficial to the country is involved in the success of the Pennsylvania stock issue than appears on the surface. The country will need money before it gets through the autumn. The heavy foreign subscriptions to the Pennsylvania issue will provide some of it.

It would be fortunate if the Pennsylvania could undo another error as readily as it has corrected its mistaken original judgment over the stock issue. This is not the age for one great corporation to ruthlessly destroy the property of another in the manner in which the corporation wrecked the poles and wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company along its right of way. Such an act suggests the question if sane men of calm judgment are at the head of the Pennsylvania corporation, determining its plans for development, its contracts and expenditures. Railroad officials have been preaching harmony, not warfare, and the destruction of property. Among careful and conservative men it comes as a shock that such destruction could be permitted with the case pending upon appeal to a higher court. The Gould interest is powerful in itself, and more powerful in its recent affiliations and it is possible that the last has not been heard of this unfortunate quarrel.

BRITISH DOUBTFUL.

Pennsylvania Shareholders Over the Water Regard Stock Syndicate Unfavorably.

LONDON, May 24.—(Special.)—The statement that a syndicate has been formed to underwrite the Pennsylvania company's new stock has not taken the shareholders here favorably. There has been almost an entire absence of business in Americans except some investment buying when a low level was reached on Thursday. The Statist finds abundant cause for satisfaction in the present financial conditions. It says:

"The great bulk of French investment is flowing to London, thereby materially lessening the danger of large withdrawals of money from this market by and by. Moreover, there is good investment in other directions. The Underground Electric Railway Company of London, notes offered the other day by Speyer Bros., were eagerly taken; so were the Mexican government 4½ per cent treasury bills. The applications for the Brazilian loans offered by the Rothschilds have been on an immense scale. In all these ways evidence is being afforded that the indifference of investors, which lasted so long, is passing away, and there is now an eager demand for all really sound new issues."

LONDON MONEY RELIEVED.

Lowering of Bank Rate Was Welcomed by the Stock Exchange.

LONDON, May 24.—The lowering of the bank rate from 4 to 3½ per cent last Thursday came as a welcome relief to the stock market, but owing to the proximity of the settlement its effects will not be fully felt until later. There was very little increase in the volume of business transacted last week but the tone of the market was firm. Foreigners were neglected. Brazilians were weaker. The new Brazilian loan was at a premium of ⅝ of 1 per cent.

Americans were weak early in the week, but improved later. The prices of Americans were irregular, but there was considerable buying and the market for these securities is evidently broadening. Mexicans were easier on a less sanguine feeling regarding the reform of the currency.

Settled in the Morning.

Fifty dollars and costs for proprietors and $25 and costs for visitors was the disorderly house schedule at Central station yesterday morning. This was paid by Maggie Totten, No. 1108 Ann street; Julia Neighton, No. 659 Second avenue; Annie Kelly, No. 539 Grant street, and 11 visitors at the three houses.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Refined Sugar Advances Five Points—Fresh Peas Lower. Hams Decline.

Receipts of hay and grain on Saturday were very light, no cars arriving in the yards of the Pittsburgh Company. During the week a firmer tone was noticeable in the hay situation, which would have been much stronger than it was had demand been as active as during the earlier part of the month. As it was No. 1 timothy advanced 50 cents a ton and dealers claim the price would have gone to $20 except for the fact that buyers are holding off, evidently not yet satisfied that reports of damage to crops by drought are as close to circumstances as stated and that prices will be easier with the coming of rain. Farmers assert, however, that hay has been injured beyond the point of revival and that there will be a scarcity all year. Corn is not so high as it was a week ago, demand showing a falling off, buyers who were very anxious for supplies having apparently become satisfied and showing no disposition to purchase. Oats are firmer, owing to high prices ruling in the west and light offerings in this market, quotations are slightly higher. Straw is unchanged. Rye is easy at lower figures. Millfeed is in limited receipt and prices are higher.

Mills having advanced the price of flour, local jobbers moved quotations forward 10 cents a barrel for fancy spring patent and the market is very firm at the advance. Unless relief in the shape of rain comes to wheat growing districts very soon it is not at all unlikely that there will be further advances in the flour market before long. Coffee is unchanged. Sugar has been put forward 5 points by local wholesalers, who are trying to work the price up by degrees to a normal range and avoid the losses under which they are now selling before the beginning of the season of active demand, which is almost due. Refiners are holding quotations stiff, but have made no advance during the past week. Navy beans are higher than they were a week ago and red kidneys have also advanced. Canned goods are unchanged, although packers have made an advance in tomatoes and are threatening to put peas up to a higher plane. Dried fruits are unchanged, with prunes and apricots strong on account of reported shortage of California crops.

Old potatoes are a trifle easier than at the opening of last week, but are not quotably changed. New potatoes are gradually getting cheaper and Florida Rose offer at $4.50 while Bermudas, which are nearly done, are commanding $5 per crate and higher. Spring beans were higher at the close of the week, while peas were in better supply and were much cheaper. Florida tomatoes hold their own and demand is fairly active. Strawberries have been coming forward in moderate quantities only and quality has not been satisfactory. On Saturday the usual active request made prices firmer than they had been during the earlier part of the week, but selling figures depended entirely upon the character of the stock, which was uncertain and variable. Home grown produce is just about as it was a week ago and growers have but little to offer, what does come to market bringing good figures.

Butter remained unchanged last Monday and the market has been no more than steady since that time. Cheese has held firm all week, supplies being limited and production at factories diminished on account of dry weather and scarcity of milk. With better pasturage there is likelihood of further declines in cheese quotations. Eggs are unchanged, the top figures only secured for selects, as the market is inclined to be slow, notwithstanding the fact that receipts are moderate. Storing throughout the country continues.

There has been no change in the poultry market, chickers having held their own for over a week, arrivals being limited and demand good. Dealers have call for all the chickens being received.

Provision dealers lowered prices for hams of all sizes on Saturday. Dry salt and smoked meats and lard unchanged.

NOT PARTICULAR ABOUT HIS BURIAL.

GREAT BARRINGTON, MASS., May 24.—A man who registered at a local hotel May 21, as Arthur Sands of Chicago, was found dead in his room today. Near his bed was found a bottle which had contained carbolic acid, and a letter merely stating that he did not care how, when or where his body was buried. When Sands came here he seemed to have plenty of money, but of late he had been short of funds and despondent.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The only ripple of excitement in the oil fields during the past week was located in Beaver county, six miles southwest of Kellerspole in the 100-foot territory. For the greater part of a year operators have been making an effort to open a pool in that locality. At times success seemed assured and then a dry hole would be encountered and make the outlook discouraging. The theory all along was that a connecting link could be established uniting the 100-foot development in Butler county with the Crows Run and Leghorville districts in Beaver county.

A week ago last Saturday, Dapnaugh, Wilson & Co. drilled in their test on the Anole Wolfe farm, and the well made quite a sensational start as soon as the pay streak was tapped. It started in to flow at the rate of 20 barrels an hour, but declined rapidly and the first 24 hours placed but 140 barrels to its credit. For several days the well stood by idle and was then started deeper into the sand, but instead of increasing its production got a dose of salt water and has since refused to flow. The tubing and rods will be put in and the well pumped, but it is not expected to make a 100-barrel producer. If that good it will not be so bad for Beaver county, all parts of which has not of late been able to furnish anything worth while and only a large percentage of dry holes. In those later days a hundred-barrel to some one of the old producing counties to locked upon with scorn.

In Allegheny county the old Dunk Creek field is furnishing a good production ranging from 30 to 60 barrels a day. In no other quarter of the local fields is there the brighter prospect of opening anew source of producing territory. Many operators who have been pinned their faith to the local fields are going to Southeastern Ohio. Small wells are the most that can be hoped for in that section, but where a number can be opened at this is the principal incentive for selecting the Buckeye state.

Belmont, Monroe and Washington counties are the most in favor just now. In the last named there is considerable new work starting on Bars run, and if the test wells due in the sand this week come in good producers there will give an impetus to operations in that district.

Northwest of Dexter City, Noble county, is a new development that is receiving some attention. The production of the first bout not good for more than 10 barrels a day.

In many parts of the Little Mountain State operations are increasing and some of the old districts are taking on a new lease of life. In activity the deep sand districts are still in the lead. The Folsom development in Harrison and Wetzel counties is still the most active, and the Fairchance district in Fayette, one of the late wells and leaves no doubt as to the best of the productive territory having been drilled over. From now on interest will center largely in the Pine Grove extension. Many new wells are starting and there will be an increase in production from that quarter. On the west side of the Pine Grove district, the United Oil Company drilled in its test on the Jacob Dayhoff farm and struck oil in the sand and secured a producer good for 100 barrels a day.

The little extension to the south of the old White Oak field in Washington county was the scene of the largest producer completed in the lower southwest fields during the week. It was drilled into the Keener sand on the Dr. Hall farm and started in to flow at the rate of 3 barrels an hour. The production fell off rapidly and by the end of the fourth day had dropped to a little more than one half the original flow. Whether it is a case of water or gas action has been fully defined, and frequent shooting is all that keeps a number of the best producers out of the pumper aggregation. Taken as a whole, the county is well to the front with operations and drilling. The streams on this side of the Ohio river cleared as shallow sand territory.

The largest sale of producing property during the week was recorded this morning when the Three Rees Oil Company sold its holdings on Big Knot run to an eastern syndicate for $200,000. In the list is included leases on 60 acres of territory on which are 10 oil producers and one gasser. The oil wells have a net production of 200 barrels a day, making the purchase price on a basis of $1,000 a barrel. There is also a tank farm and 2 miles on the property and it is probable that the new owners will be able to hold up the production for some time by putting down wells on these undrilled locations.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 24.—River 1.7 feet and falling. There were no towboats moving today.

STEUBENVILLE—River 3 feet and rising.

GALLIPOLIS—River 5 feet and about stationary.

OIL CITY—River 11 inches and stationary.

BURGANTOWN—River 4 feet and rising.

MORGANTOWN—River 4 feet and rising. Heavy thunder yesterday. The Bedford arrived at 10 a. m. from Wheeling.

WARREN—River 4 feet.

RAIN HELPED A LITTLE.

Raised River a Few Inches and Enabled Empty Barges to Move.

The rain of yesterday proved of benefit to the river interests. The river raised several inches and made it possible for the movement of empty barges. During the last rise all the barges and boats were sent south. It has been impossible to bring the empties back on account of the low stage. Now that the stream is of sufficient height to permit the movement of the boats, they will be returned with all possible speed.

The Enterprise is towing several up the river. She passed Huntington, W. Va., yesterday and is expected to reach the Pittsburg wharf early this morning.

Several other steamers have started on the up-river trip and should the water remain as it is for a few days the shippers will have all the barges and boats in the pool, where they can be loaded ready for the next outbounding stage.

The J. C. Woodward has come off the docks, looking as bright as a new pin, and will start out on her first trip up the Monongahela this afternoon. Her companion boat will enter the trade about June 1.

Lock No. 4 is to be opened open today and this will make it possible for the Morgantown packets to go over, though, a fact that will be appreciated by the shippers.

The ranger at water at Davis Island dam last night was 4 feet, and the river was stationary.

KEEP SUCCEEDS AILES.

Buffalo Man Selected by Secretary Shaw to Be First Assistant.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The appointment of Charles Hallam Keep as assistant secretary of the treasury, to succeed Milton E. Ailes, who recently resigned to accept the vice presidency of the Riggs National bank, was announced today at the treasury department. Mr. Keep is a resident of Buffalo, N. Y., and was graduated by Harvard university in the celebrated law course. He is 40 years old. Since graduating from Harvard Mr. Keep has been a practicing lawyer in the city of Buffalo, his specialty being along investment and financial lines.

It is understood that the appointment of Mr. Keep is satisfactory to both Senator Platt and Gov. Odell and he has been strongly indorsed by Congressman Alexander, of whose district he is a resident. When Secretary Shaw was with the president in Iowa several weeks ago, the latter signed a blank commission, thus putting the matter of selection of an assistant in the hands of the secretary. However, when Mr. Shaw reached the decision that Mr. Keep was his choice for the place he telegraphed the president to that effect, and has received an answer approving his selection.

Mr. Keep is expected to reach Washington, take the oath, and assume the duties of his office Wednesday next.

GLORY OF THE OLD SOLDIER IS RECALLED BY CLERGYMEN OF MANY DENOMINATIONS

Various Grand Army of the Republic Posts in Pittsburgh and Allegheny Attend Church Services.

HEARD PATRIOTIC SERMONS

Memorial Day services were held yesterday in churches of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and the pastors preached special sermons to the old soldiers. Most of the posts of the Grand Army of the Republic attended church in a body and special music of a patriotic character was rendered. The services were all well attended and were the most successful held in this city in recent years.

In the First Congregational church, Allegheny, yesterday morning, the pastor, the Rev. Thomas Clayton, preached a sermon on "The Passing Away of the Old Soldier." His text was taken from Second Timothy iv:7. During the course of his sermon, Mr. Clayton said in part:

Today begins the week of the old soldier's glory. We lift our hats to him, sing his praises and accord him great honor. He moves around with a smarter step and a brighter eye because he knows he is in the people's thoughts. He glories in his record, his wounds and hardships and fights the great battles of the Civil war again. We are all glad to have him do so, for he is rapidly passing away. Each Decoration Day the veterans march more feebly and the ranks are thinner and there are more graves to decorate.

A BRAVE OLD SOLDIER.

Our text was written by a brave old soldier from a Roman prison and while surrounded by the soldiers of the enemy. Rome was the Andersonville of the early Christians. There the believers in Christ were incarcerated, starved, ill treated and destroyed. We have only to think of the catacombs of Nero and Domitian to realize what they suffered. We are comparing and glorifying both the Grand Army of the Republic veteran and the Christian soldier today.

Each fought in a great cause and behaved nobly. Our old soldiers fought for the union for four long and tedious years. But our war was carnal, bloody and cruel.

"War is hell," said one of our famous generals. It included the slaughter and maiming of multitudes of brave men, the destruction of property and the burning of many once-happy homes, but it also emancipated the slaves.

Paul's warfare was against evil not carnal, but spiritual; not to destroy life, but to save it. How do the rewards compare? The old soldier has his pensions, his monument and his wreath of flowers today. But he only commemorates and is commemorated. His glory lies in the past and can only be cherished as a memory. The reward of the soldier of the cross is in the future.

SERMON BY THE REV. E. M. WOOD.

The Rev. E. M. Wood, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth avenue and Magee street, preached a sermon in the evening to the members of G. A. R. post No. 157. His topic was "Patriotism and Religion." Mr. Wood said in part:

The common definition of patriotism is perhaps good enough; namely, the love of country. But this definition is more comprehensive than is generally supposed. Its natural scenery is to him sacred.

"I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills."

Rock-ribbed and storm-beaten Corsica developed the heroic race of Napoleons. Rugged Alpine scenery has matured the Swiss soldiers so as to make them almost invincible in their granite fortresses, and thus they are the marvel among nations.

Patriotism is inspired by great and good men as ancestors. Napoleon, to awaken enthusiasm, referred to the Cæsars, and the Cæsars to Alexander, and so we appeal to Grant and Washington. And so also it is aroused by appealing to victories and sometimes to defeats. The expression, "Remember the Maine," stirred the blood as much as to remember Gettysburg or Yorktown.

AWAKENS PATRIOTISM IN US.

Patriotism is awakened by referring to what we call our institutions, our towns, our cities, our schools, our churches and our homes. This last item is perhaps as powerful as any. Every soldier going out to war is as much impressed with the honor of his home as was the Spartan soldier who, on leaving home, was urged by his mother to bring home his shield or be brought home on it.

Other Memorial Day exercises held in churches yesterday morning were as follows: First Methodist Protestant church, South Side, J. A. Johnson, pastor, address to J. W. Patterson post; North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, sermon by the pastor, E. L. Eaton, D. D.; Trinity Methodist Protestant church, Allegheny, J. U. Evers, pastor, "Our Citizens as Soldiers and Patriots," and Manchester Presbyterian church, Franklin and Market streets, Allegheny, A. R. VanFossen, pastor, memorial sermon to Col. John B. Clark post No. 182.

The evening services held were the following: Shady Avenue Baptist church, Pittsburgh, W. A. Stanton, D. D., pastor; sermon to McPherson post, G. A. R., whose theme was, "How Many Are the Days of the Years of Thy Life?" Washington Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, sermon to Geary post on "Memorial Day and the True Soldier," by the pastor, J. T. Steffy; West End Presbyterian church, E. R. Donehoo, D. D., pastor, sermon to G. A. R. posts; Atlantic Avenue United Presbyterian church, McKeesport, "In Memory," by the pastor, James E. Walker, and Etna United Presbyterian church, S. E. Irvine, pastor, sermon to Custer post of Sharpsburg and Etna, on "Memorial Bones;" Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny, pastor, John A. Jayne, "The Beautiful Banner of Liberty;" Second Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, pastor, S. Edward Young, "The Soldier of '61."

BISHOP HAMILTON LIFTS CHURCH DEBT

Bishop John W. Hamilton, D. D. LL. D., of San Francisco, Cal., occupied the pulpit in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Braddock, yesterday morning, and after the conclusion of his sermon, on the request of the pastor of the church, the Rev. William Pitt Turner, he raised nearly $2,000, enough to wipe out the entire church debt. The services yesterday were in commemoration of the fourteenth anniversary of the dedication of the second church built by the congregation in 32 years.

Meets Next Wednesday.

The quarterly meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the presbyteries of Pittsburgh and Allegheny will be held on Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Second Presbyterian church, Penn avenue and Seventh street. The Rev. J. B. Dunlap of Siam, who has charge of all the press work in that country will make an address at the conclusion of the routine business.

WISE BUILDERS USE THE BEST MATERIALS

Sermon by the Rev. W. F. Silveus, D. D., on "Spiritual Building."

"Spiritual Building" was the subject of a sermon preached by the Rev. W. F. Silveus, D. D., in the Second Cumberland Presbyterian church, Penn and Brushton avenues, yesterday morning. His text was taken from First Corinthians, iii:12, 15. Mr. Silveus said in part:

The wise builder is he who chooses the best materials, the most beautiful and enduring. The foolish builder takes whatever comes to hand—the cheapest, the most available. The result in one case is a palace, in the other a hovel. But both are wise up to a certain point. They build upon a good foundation. But this is not enough; for the testing time will come and then when fire sweeps over the city the temple shall still stand high above the flames, while these hovels will be consumed, as was actually the case at Corinth.

The foolish builders are those who deal in worthless and unsubstantial materials—"wood, hay," etc., for example, these who are content to edify their hearers with little else than fanciful theories, vague speculations, impractical discussions. What have such preachers for all their pains? A lean, unfruitful, hypocritical church. Churches thus edified seek for nought by proselytes—do nothing for Christian missions or for philanthropic institutions. When the testing time comes—the time when differences of opinion occur—do they maintain unity and brotherly love? Nay, they are divided and dispersed—every man's hand against his fellow.

The wise builder is he who chooses the best materials—the materials which make a church lovely, enduring, God-honoring and God-honored. He has to work longer, wait longer, but in the end he is rewarded. His materials are "the gold and silver," of sound doctrine. He is rigid in discipline, he sees men as a builder sees the quarry of marble or granite. These, he says, are capable of being made beautiful; if we put them into the temple of the visible church as they are they will be unsightly. Therefore he unsparingly uses chisel and hammer. God can make pure the impure, good the bad.

WAR VETERANS OF M'KEESPORT

Memorial Day Services in Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

SERMON BY DR. DANLEY

Preached on "The Irrepressible Conflict" and Told of the Many Characteristics That Make a Good Soldier.

The Rev. Warren S. Danley, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, McKeesport, preached yesterday morning to the Col. Sam W. Black post, No. 50, G. A. R., this being the annual Sunday observance of Memorial day of the post. Nearly every member was present and the church was crowded. The title of Mr. Danley's sermon was "The Irrepressible Conflict," and he said in part:

Veterans, we are proud to entertain you as guests today in our religious home. Your deeds of courage and patriotism are fresh in our minds and we gladly welcome this day, because it awakens anew in our hearts the gratitude we owe you for the part you took in preserving the union and making our country the land of freedom. We have read about what you saw and heard and felt in those days that tried the souls of men. You will know better than the preacher what our text teaches about the qualities and equipments of a true soldier.

THE REV. WARREN S. DANLEY,
Who Preached to the McKeesport G. A. R.

A Roman soldier stood before the apostle as he wrote our text, "Therefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day and having done all to stand," but Paul had his mind on the follower of Christ, a soldier of the cross. The armor he saw on the Roman stood in his imagination for character in a soldier in life's battle. For one thing, he means that the soldier in life's warfare is a real fighter who stands stubbornly, fights desperately and "lays hold" and lays on. He fights for Christ as you fought for the flag.

Courage is as necessary in our daily lives as it was in those battles you fought in the civil war. There are foes on all hands and they attack us and we can get rid of them only when we whip them. They are in us and out of us, behind us as well as before us. It takes courage to defeat them. Stonewall Jackson said he feared liquor more than Yankee bullets. Alexander, at the age of 33, fell before strong drink. Another necessary quality of the Christian soldiers' armor is pluck, dogged determination. A true soldier never gives up and will fight to a finish if it takes all summer. He moves on and strikes the enemy good and hard and never gives him time to get his breath.

Alexander conquered the world, he said, because he did not delay. A good soldier possesses all the strong points—there is no weak place in his armor. Every great general, like Napoleon, struck the weakest place in the enemy, and Satan observes the same shrewd tactics. So keep cool and level head, a heart pure and strong and a body fortified by noble self-control. The plain word for armor is character. Character makes the man and makes the nation. The veteran of the civil war should now stand for every virtue that honors and renders the flag of our country invincible. Your comrades, who gave themselves for the republic, from Washington to Lincoln and McKinley, look down upon you today and call upon you to uphold the flag, dignity and honor of our free institutions.

WOMEN IN DESPERATION

Don't know what to do this hot weather, the coal fires heat the house up so. There's only one remedy—the ideal fuel, natural gas. When your meal is cooked, just turn off the gas; no heat through the house. No fuel wasting after the meal is cooked. More money is wasted in coal that is not used but has to be let die down in the stove, than would pay the bill for enough gas to do the same work. Ask at the Philadelphia Company, 435 Sixth avenue. If you apply this month service connections will be made and meter set free of charge.
